

Recommend Port For Outagamie, Winnebago Jointly

Consultants Say Project May Serve Fox Cities Area Better

Construction of a joint airport at one of two new locations to serve Outagamie and Winnebago counties was recommended today by Leigh Fisher and Associates.

If an arrangement cannot be worked out with Winnebago county, the consultants said, Outagamie should construct a new airport at a site five miles west of downtown Appleton. The report indicated this would be somewhat more costly than developing the present county airport site, but it would provide the county and Neenah-Menasha with a modern and technically sound airport.

Total cost of the joint airport (designated site 4) was estimated to be $2,495,000; however, sale of the present port would reduce Outagamie county's share to a net $1,460,500. Net cost to Winnebago county, the report estimated, would be $373,500. Additional cost of a joint site was estimated to be $271,500 for each county.

"Site 2" Totals $2,327,000. The alternative recommendation would have the county build a new airport at what the report calls "site 2" for an estimated $2,327,000. "Site 2" is one of the sites considered by the Wisconsin state planning board in their second progress report of May 15, 1943. The site is located on a ridge where drainage would be excellent, the report says, adding that the terminal area would be approximately two and one-half miles west of Highway 41 on U. S. Highway 10.

This quite valuable agricultural land and grading costs.

Kennedy Adds to Strength; Fight Seen on Civil Rights

Sens. Lyndon Johnson, left, and John F. Kennedy, rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, had a smile and a handshake for one another as they met in Pasadena Monday at a Pennsylvania state caucus.

Badgers Seek Liberal Planks In Platform

Delegates Await Results; Against Major Compromises

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Post-Crescent News Service

Los Angeles—The powers of the Wisconsin Democratic party prepared today to fight if necessary to produce a liberal platform declaration of liberal beliefs and objectives in the national party platform.

At the request of Gov. Gaylord Nelson, the first Wisconsin caucus of delegates and alternates decided to watch platform committee proceedings vigilantly and to press for strong liberal positions on labor legislation, medical care for the aged, civil rights, and the kind of farm production control and price guarantee bills that Nelson and other Democratic governors of the middle west have been pressing upon the Democratic congress thus far without success.

Nelson told the Wisconsin caucus that he has been disturbed by reports of possible compromises for moderate planks.

"Very Important" "It is very important that we have a clear and direct plank on civil rights," he said. Nelson's perturbation contradicted earlier reports from David Rabinovitz, Sheboygan, Wisconsin member of the platform committee, that the group would make a series of hard-hitting proposals in civil rights and other issues. The final version of the platform is being hammered out by an executive committee and Chairman Chester Bowles did not

Johnson Wants to Debate Bay State Senator Before Their State Delegations

BY JACK BELL

Convention Hall, Los Angeles—The Democratic national convention squatted off today for a civil rights battle while Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.) held an unpredictable position as its potential presidential nominee.

Adherents of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas refused to give up hope that he can wrest the nomination away from Kennedy by a dramatic last-hour rally.

Johnson today challenged Kennedy to a debate before the Massachusetts and Texas delegations.

Johnson, making a determined bid to stop the Kennedy bandwagon told Kennedy in a telegram: "I am very happy to know that you are grateful for support and friendship that your southern friends gave you in 1956."

"It is interesting to know that you need them now. Personally, I believe that the problems before us are far too important to be determined on the basis solely of regional and sectional issues.

"As a firm believer in the Democratic process, especially as it relates to national party conventions, may I suggest that in response to your request we appear together before a joint session of the Texas and Massachusetts delegations in caucus and debate the major issues on which these bodies solemnly will act later this week."

This situation spawned feverish activity on the part of Democrats of all shades of opinion hoping to get in on the ground floor of what they hope will become the first party administration of the White House in eight years.

Nikita Sees War Peril in Spy Flights

Charges U. S. Policy Aims At 'Provoking Conflict'

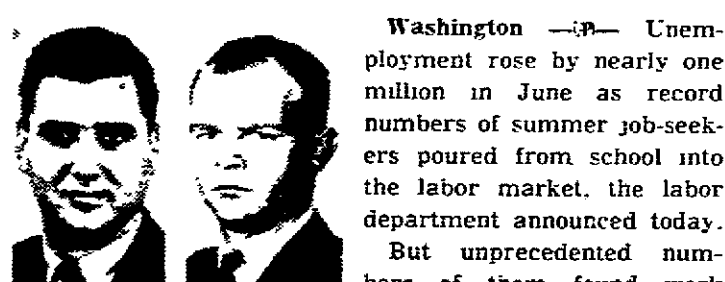

BY STANLEY JOHNSON

Moscow —P— Nikita Khrushchev warned today that resumption of American U2 spy flights over the Soviet Union would "heat the existing tension to boiling point and bring matters to the outbreak of war."

The Soviet premier gave this warning at a Kremlin news-conference in answer to a question about the possibility of renewal of U2 flights. He did not elaborate.

Earlier Khrushchev charged the flight of the RB47 reconnaissance plane shot down July 1 by a Soviet fighter demonstrated that U.S. policy is aimed at "provoking a serious military conflict."

He also declared that this "new act of perfidy" demonstrated that President Eisenhower's assurance in Paris that the U2 flights over Soviet territory had been discontinued was "not worth a bad penny."

Khrushchev claimed the two surviving crewmen of the American plane—1st Lt. John R. McCone, 38, of Tonganoxie, Kan., and 1st Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 24, of Elmira, N.Y.—had admitted their plane "was to have flown along the northern frontiers of the Soviet union on an espionage mission."

Khrushchev said he thought

Lost Plane Not Over Red Area

Hagerty Declares Soviet Union Tried To Create Incident

Newport, R.I. —P— The White House today accused the Soviet Union of "a deliberate and reckless attempt to create an international incident" in shooting down an American reconnaissance plane in the Arctic.

At President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, Press Sec. James C. Hagerty also denied Russian claims that the plane was over Soviet territory when it was brought down July 1.

"The American RB47 plane was over international waters and at no time was over Soviet territory, Soviet territorial waters or Soviet air space," Hagerty said. "The shooting down of this plane as the Soviet government alleges can only have been a deliberate and reckless attempt to create an international incident."

K-C Steps Up Its Expansion Plans

Annual Report Lists $40 Million In Capital Spending This Year

Neenah — Kimberly — Clark is stepping up the pace of its long term expansion improvement program, shareholders were told in the company's annual report. Some $40 million of capital expenditures are projected for the year ending next April 30, and capital spending is expected to remain high in the next few years.

Major projects this year include a second creped wadding machine and further converting equipment at the company's Fullerton, Calif. plant, a new building and a 168-inch paper machine at the subsidiary American Envelope company plant near Dayton, Ohio; a high speed coated paper machine at the Niagara, Wis. mill; a cigarette paper machine at Spotswood, N. J., and rebuilding and speeding up of machines at other U. S. and Canadian mills.

Young Men Drown In Stone Quarry

One Dies Attempting to Save Swimmer Near Black Creek

Two young men drowned about 7:35 p. m. Monday while swimming in Murphy's quarry, about 1½ miles north of Black Creek.

Dead are Warren Fassbender, 24, of Black Creek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fassbender, Black Creek, and Gerald Draeger, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Draeger, Seymour.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said a contributing factor in the tragedy was an electric shock which incapacitated both swimmers. He said a final ruling must await the outcome of laboratory tests.

Sheriff Robert Heinritz said Fassbender died when he attempted to rescue Draeger who, apparently numbed by an electric shock, had disappeared under water.

Another swimmer, Gerald Kissinger, 20, of Black Creek, had shouted a warning moments before that the water was

Joint Command Sought Congo Requests U. S. To Send 3,000 Troops

Leopoldville, the Congo —P— The Congo government today asked the United States to send an armed force of 3,000 men to help restore law and order in the strife-torn republic.

Reporting this to the Associated Press, Belgian Minister Ganshof van der Meersch said the plan was that Americans would serve with Belgian and Congolese troops under a joint command.

It is not intended at present, he said, that there should be one supreme commander of the force.

Van der Meersch said U.S. Ambassador Claire Timberlake has been asked by the Congo government formally to pass its request for the American troops to Washington as quickly as possible.

Units of the U.S. 24th Infantry division based in West Germany have been on the alert for several days awaiting a possible call to the Congo. The 3,000 men requested would constitute more than a regiment.

May Lose Province The sending of American troops into the Congo, one of the richest and most strategic countries of Africa, would have tremendous political repercussions.

Presumably the Congolese and the Belgians are aware of this, and feel that the emergency is such that the risk is justified.

The Congolese government acted as it faced the possibility of losing its richest province Katanga in the south-east.

Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga, accusing the Congolese government of using communist methods, said yesterday he had set up a state independent of the central government in Leopoldville.

Tshombe, 42-year-old member of a wealthy Negro plantation and business family, said in a radio broadcast from Elisabethville that his Katanga government wants to form an "economic community" with Belgium and wants economic and military assistance from the Congo's former white rulers.

Cardinal Biondi Dies at Vatican City

Vatican City —P— Pietro Cardinal Fumasoni Biondi, 67-year-old prefect of the Congregation for Propagation of the Faith died today.

The prince of the Roman Catholic church had been in poor health for several years. His condition, aggravated by his advanced years, worsened several weeks ago.

He suffered an internal hemorrhage today.

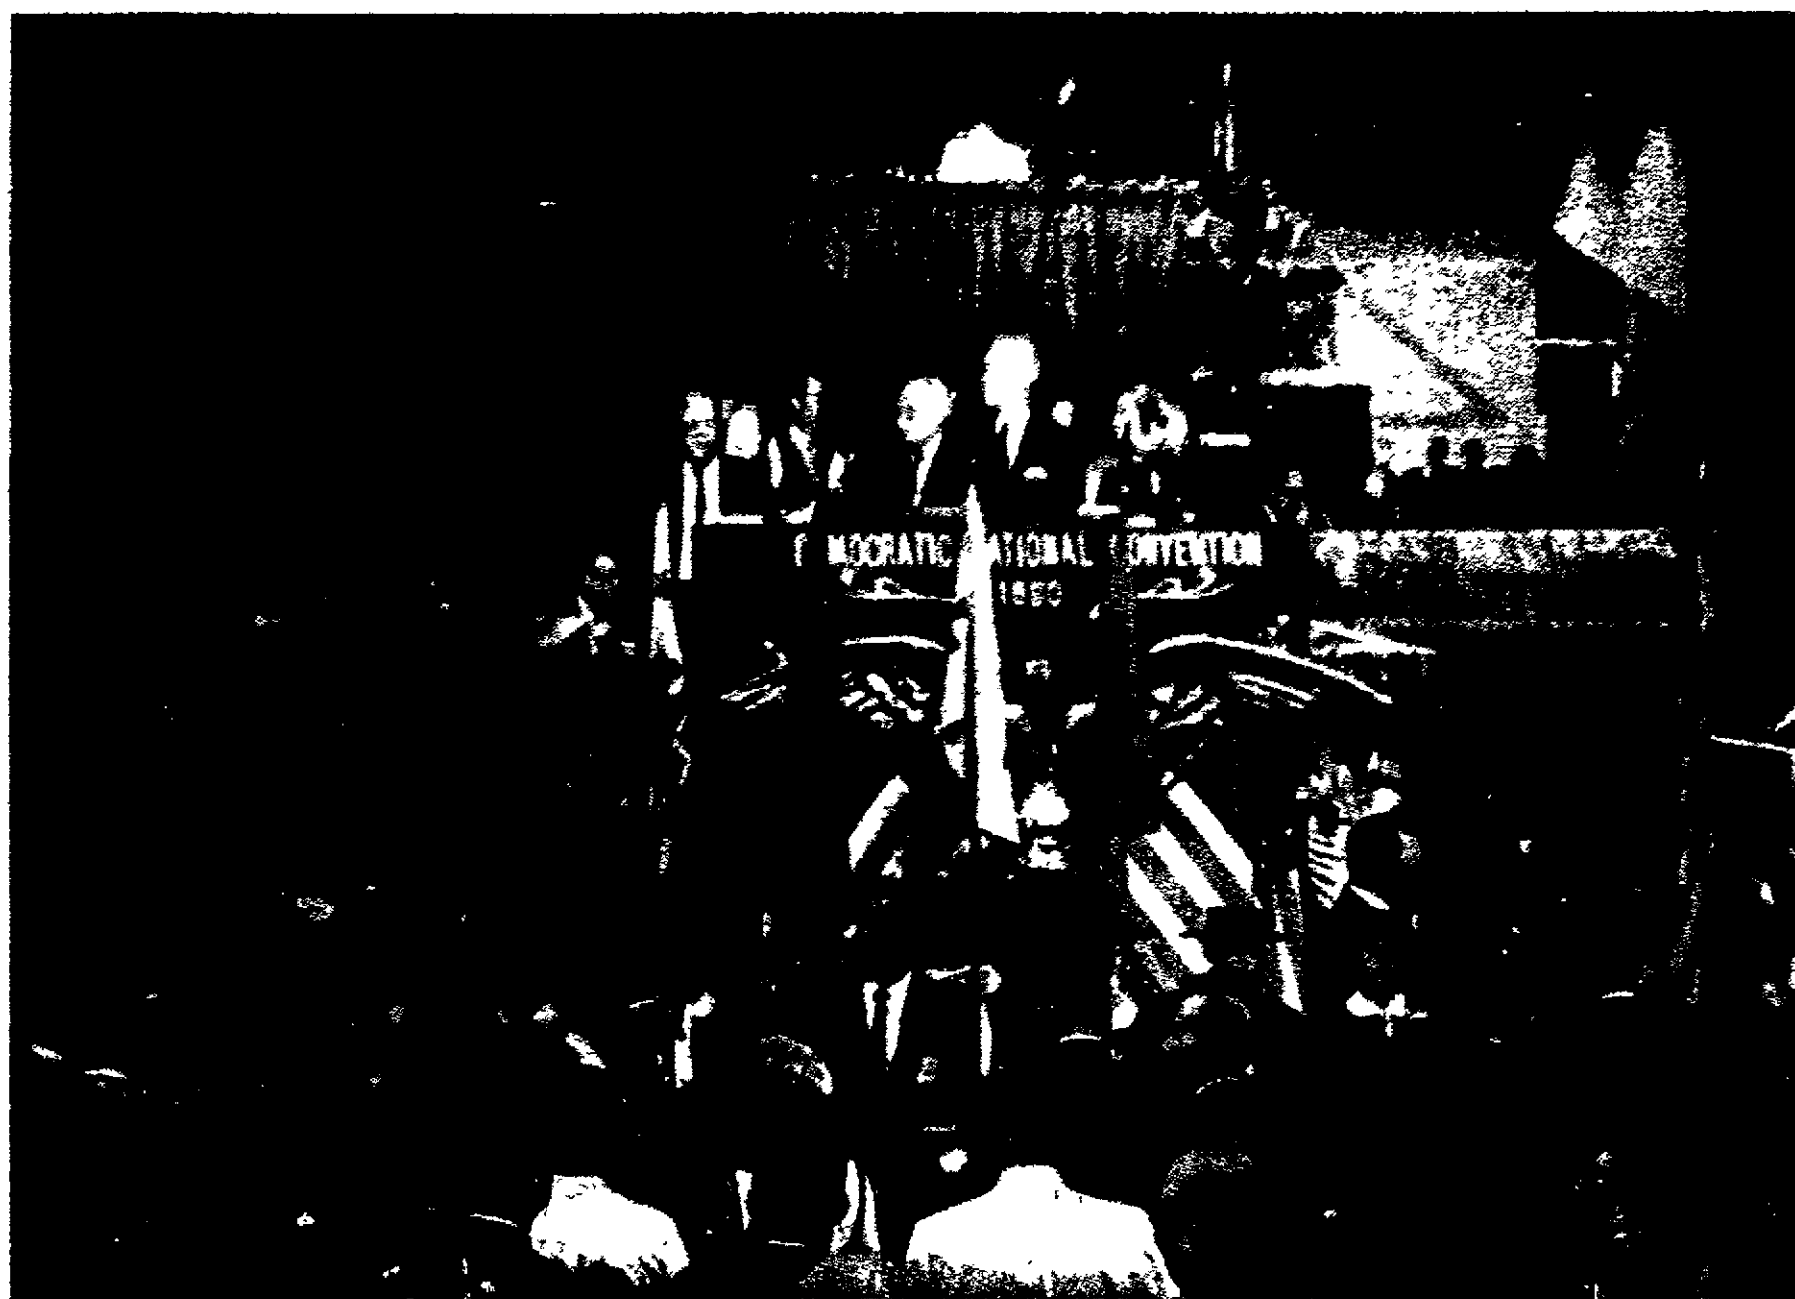

He was apostolate legate in Washington from 1923 to 1933 and traveled extensively in the United States. He was named a cardinal in 1933.

Greatest Show on Earth

As the political conventions begin with the Democratic gathering in Los Angeles, there is an atmosphere of only partly suppressed excitement around the country. There should be, for the primary aim of the conventions is to pick nominees for the biggest position in the world today.

There has been disillusion with political conventions almost throughout our history. The deals made behind closed doors, in the smoke-filled rooms, the trading of votes for pledges of Cabinet seats or vice-presidential backing, have all been blown up to make it appear that the serious business of picking a candidate for the presidency of the United States is left to not quite honest men and women more interested in personal advancement than the good of the nation or the will of the people.

But this is not strictly so. The primaries have little to do with the final choice except to indicate to the delegates who might be able to win in November. Professional politicians may seem to be cynical about why people vote as they do, and they have plenty of reason to be, but they are considerably concerned about that nebulous something known as personal popularity. There has been an increasing amount of emphasis in recent campaigns, particularly by the party out of office, upon picking a man who can win. It was probably the main reason why President Eisenhower gained the nomination instead of Sen. Robert Taft.

It is why there is hesitation to back Adlai Stevenson for a third time. It's the main appeal behind Sen. Kennedy and his scalp belt of primary wins.

The delegates to the conventions are in general the professional politicians who have been involved in the business for years. They may come to accept a little too readily the compromises which must be made, but they also acknowledge the realities of merging the attributes and contributions of various candidates into a program behind one or two men who could lead, not only to election victory, but to executive and legislative leadership in Washington. And there are always newcomers to the conventions, somewhat naive perhaps, but also introducing a fresh point of view, a reluctance to follow the old ways.

There will be exchanges, deals, promises and pledges made at this year's conventions. There will be involved figuring as to the geographical, religious and political philosophic balance once the presidential candidate is chosen.

There may be a better way of choosing candidates. The nation has had its quota of duds in the White House as well as a remarkable number of near-geniuses, sometimes really unrecognized until they took command. But no one has yet devised a better way. And whatever the outcomes, the conventions are the greatest shows on earth and their results concern the whole world.

No Applause for K

Back in 1955, when Khrushchev was at the height of his carrot phase of peaceful coexistence, he was instrumental in the signing of the peace treaty with Austria which ended the occupation of that country. But the sweet talk and friendly advances apparently gained no widespread enthusiastic support in Austria. On his recent tour of Austria, Khrushchev was almost snubbed by diplomats and citizens alike.

The invitation to visit Austria came because the reparations part of the treaty will expire in 1961, and Austrian officials are hoping for a trade agreement with the Soviet Union to sell the Russians the same type of goods that now go to pay for war guilt. Officially the Austrians have been polite. But the streets were not lined with cheering crowds as the Russian press reported. The Viennese were disgusted when Khrushchev fell asleep at the opera and when he boasted of Russian military might and personal prowess.

At the time Khrushchev scuttled the summit meeting, it was clear that he was annoyed by the contrast between his reception and that of President Eisenhower in their winter tours. The Russians are curiously concerned with personal popularity, and the lukewarm treatment of the boss has certainly been a loss of face. It may be time to wonder just how Khrushchev was encouraged to visit a country where intelligence sources must have shown a lack of enthusiasm. It just may be that other forces in the Kremlin are rather pleased that Khrushchev doesn't make a big splash. When the time comes for his ouster, it will be that much easier.

No Proof This Time

The baby-kissing technique, once used extensively by politicians during election years, is happily dying out. Mothers didn't enthuse about strange men smacking their children and bringing all sorts of odd germs. The politicians are probably just as relieved as visitors in the 16th century to have the custom abandoned. In those days it was customary for the tourist to kiss all members of the host's family, including a wide variety of pets.

But the handshake still lingers on despite some assertions that it is more dangerous, germ-wise, than the kiss. The approved method is a firm, short clasp accompanied by a "sincere" smile and a steady look into one's eyes. From the voters' and the candidates' points of view, the handshake is probably far preferable to some other forms of greeting still in vogue around the world. Some people meet and blow in each other's ears, shake their own hands, rub their palms together or their noses. Some break into loud cries and tears out of respect for those who have died since last they met.

The handshake probably developed from an effort to show peaceful intentions by proving there was no weapon in the right hand. In an election year, the assumption no longer holds true.

No Monopoly on Fancy Language

BY HARRY GOLDEN

You don't have to have a love affair with the English language to feel it is being violated when you hear some of the slang that passes for communication.

Golden

Can you imagine the great editors and reporters of the past calling their newspapers "media"? Yet the newspaper has been thrown into the pot of this ugly designation, media, which sounds like a Greek play or a Los Angeles suburb.

People are getting fancy. I will admit they have a right to. But I don't think they have to take the language along with them. "Never call a stomach a tummy without good reason," commands the grammarian William Strunk, Jr., to which he might have added people will understand you quicker if you say you're a space salesman than if you say you're a media representative.

Secret Language
There's a whole new language flourishing in the advertising and public relations offices of our country. The folks say, "I'll meet you at 10 o'clockish," or "We'll arrive 11 thirtyish." The trouble with this language is that you never know how long you're supposed to wait if they're late.

This slang must come under the heading of "Secret Signs and Signals" because those fellows also use the word "wise" as an indiscriminate and subversive adverb. "Airplanes are okay safetywise," they say, and "He's knowledgeable carwise." The fellow who confused "wise" and "ish" is obviously an outsider, an interloper. It is bad form to say, "I'll be there 10 o'clockish," or "His wife is a little shrewish." No, sirree! These are dead giveaways that you don't belong to the right fraternity.

Although the people from the south and from Brooklyn are usually lampooned as the champions of bad English, I think our satirists have picked the wrong target. It is true that in the southern dialect "wretched" means "Richard" and "homey" is what an orchestra plays in, while "harmony" is a grit you eat for breakfast, but these are things you get used to. It is also true that they have called Brooklynites "the human slaughterhouse of the King's English" because the following sentence came out of it: "Usen't youse use to work for the paypah?" But I think you know what he means. It is not indeterminate.

The worst offenders of slang are the teachers and the students. To listen to them you wouldn't think they studied books but abbreviations. Aristotle's "Poetics" and Longinus' "On the Sublime" are lumped together as Lit Crit (Literary Criticism) and Adam Smith and Lord Keynes are called Mod Eco (Modern Economics). Imagine, if you will, Nancy Hanks asking

Abraham Lincoln what it was he was studying by the fireplace and receiving the answer "Soc Sci." You really think people would have voted for him for President? (Copyright 1960)

Tree Farms Halt Forest Depletion

From The Philadelphia Bulletin

It hasn't been many years since great concern was expressed over the rate at which the nation's forests were being leveled. But that concern itself was enough to start a reversal of the trend.

Tree farms came into being and the big holders of timberland began reforestation on a grand scale. The Forestry Digest reports that within the past year more than 400,000,000 seedlings have been put out. These cover about 450,000 acres.

The tree farms are scientifically managed and account for nearly 52,000,000 acres of woodland. Pennsylvania has 271,000 acres in this program.

Such firms as International Paper Company, with 44,800,000 seedlings; Continental Can, with 31,000,000, and St. Regis Paper Company, with 35,000,000 are leaders in the work. Virtually every firm with a stake in the production of timber is a participant. This self-interest is more than conservation, for the large businesses are looking far ahead to future supplies.

Our Opinion of Kennedy Brings Protest From Menasha Irishman

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am writing this on account of your editorial, (June 28), with reference to John Kennedy. What I am bringing to your attention is the part which originates in your mind and no one else reading:

"While we have not heard anyone else use it openly yet we are sure the Kennedy camp is waiting in dread for someone to come forth with the old expression about sending a boy to do a man's work."

Now this is something which originates with you and nobody else and you are hoping that it will take effect at the same time you know that John Kennedy is about the same age of our celebrated President Theodore Roosevelt and has had more education and experiences in his young life than any other candidate ever to seek the presidency.

You have never written about his experience so well known in World War II when in the Pacific he saved the lives of his four companions when their boat was cut in two by a Japanese warship. You have never given his records at Harvard or at Oxford when his father was ambassador to England when the whole family lived in England during the time Joe Kennedy was our ambassador.

You have never printed his work as a senator and compared it with Sen. Nixon who became famous on account of having been on a committee prosecuting Alger Hiss, a job any lawyer could have done with the evidence at hand.

John Kennedy's ancestors came to America from Wexford, Ireland, in the same county that produced Capt. John Barry who was head of the American navy under Washington in the Revolutionary War in which 75 per cent of Washington's army was the same breed and also of Arthur Wesley born in Ireland and while being drafted into the English army advanced to be the Duke of Wellington who beat Napoleon at Waterloo. Also Adm. Beatty head of English navy who sank the German fleet, born in Dublin, George Patton who won World War II when he beat the fox of the desert in Africa, Italy and France. And who have you got? Nixon, Rockefeller and possibly Catlin. The Democrats have many and not one of them cannot be called a good candidate and I know that you want Rockefeller and he would be the best pick what say you.

Circus Performance Praised

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of July 14, 1860.

The circus of Antonio Brothers which showed here on Tuesday — unlike many humbug exhibitions that follow an immense canvass around and startle the public with flaming posters — has left a very favorable impression upon the minds of the public. At least a thousand persons were present.

The performance, the riding, the balancing and the acrobatic feats were all first class. From first to last, there was no word or act done that the most sensitive could disapprove.

This company, too, seem to be gentlemen outside the ring. If shows of this sort were more of them managed as this one, the standard of such exhibition would be raised and both the showman and the public would be benefited.

There was but one thing we did not like. The boxes are the commonest kind of narrow board benches and very uncomfortable to sit upon. The management should better that before they commence another season.

State Tax Study Has Enlightened People

By Charles K. Alexander

Madison — The people of Wisconsin are well aware that the 1959 legislature adjourned without making any basic changes in our state and local tax system.

Keen disappointment has been expressed in some quarters because the state's continuing revenue survey commission (popularly known as the blue ribbon committee) has not submitted its final recommendations. The fact that its revision of information to most of the public of this state. It reviewed our tax problems in Wisconsin and thoroughly analyzed the major issues.

The 1957 committee on revenue sources (the Sammond committee) carried on where the earlier committees left off. Its particular contribution to the problem was a look into the future in order to determine whether Wisconsin's tax problems were transitory or of a more permanent type which would plague future legislatures. The committee indicated that the tax problem would not be resolved by temporary measures and would only be met when and if the legislature felt compelled to come to grips with the major issues.

The principal contribution of the present commission will be in the field of the distribution of taxes, both among units of government and in the distribution of the burden among the taxpayers of this state. This should round out the series of investigations.

Actually the 11 objectives stated by the commission in its recent report make it apparent that the guide lines for a revision of Wisconsin's taxing and tax distribution system are already outlined. The commission is not talking about reducing the general level taxation. Its recommendations would increase total taxes. But specific areas of taxation would be granted some relief.

The general theme is that the property tax in Wisconsin, which presently yields about half of total state and local tax collections, is sorely in need of relief. Certain of the objectives are directly aimed at this point; others are related to it.

A few of these points are (1) state assumption of the public assistance program, which would result in a reduction in local property taxes which now pay for the localities' share of public assistance costs; (2) increased educational aids by the state to realize reasonable equalization of standards and presumably to reduce the property tax burden; (3) direct relief of some of the property tax burden on shelter, and (4) elimination of the personal property tax on livestock and merchants' and manufacturers' inventories.

THE HEART

The final section of the report contains what is perhaps one of the most significant recommendations. It states:

"... the bulk of additional revenue required (should be provided) through a broader based income tax, sales tax, or some combination of the two, toward the end of taxing more heavily the first few thousand dollars of everyone's taxable income beyond basic exemptions. The resulting tax should not depart too radically, in fact and appearance from the prevailing pattern and trends of other state and local revenue systems. Interstate comparisons should include a study of services performed and debt patterns."

Ten years ago such a statement would have startled the people of the state. Today it is accepted as a basic fact. The recommendation is perhaps the most significant pronouncement that the committee could have made.

Certainly 10 years of tax research and study have enlightened the people and their elected representatives. The studies have opened the door for significant tax revision. Such revision may not come until the immediate fiscal demands compel drastic action, but when it does come the groundwork will have been laid for systematic, not haphazard, legislation.

Lyndon Johnson is making such a point of the need for age and experience there's some doubt whether he's trying to nominate himself—or Sam Rayburn.

Harry Truman comes to the Democratic convention after all. Having written the 1960 Declaration of Independence, he figures it wouldn't be patriotic to boycott the Boston Tea party.

Democrats hold a $100-a-plate dinner for Chairman Paul Butler. One party old pro bought up $5,000 worth — just to get 50 plates to throw at Butler.

Stevenson, Symington and Johnson camps claim Jack Kennedy's support is only skin-deep—and they've never seen so much skin in their lives.

Harmony is the watch word at this convention. One veteran says he's never seen such unanimous desire by the candidates to poison one another's wells.

It's a sad fact of politics that many a young firebrand becomes an old smudge-pot.

Pocketbook Issues Change in Year

BY SYLVIA PORTER

There were two great pocketbook issues which any politician a year ago would have sworn would be tops during this election campaign. They were:

1. Inflation. Last July President Eisenhower said that inflation "certainly" would be a key issue in the 1960 campaign, and that he believed the American people had "changed their minds" about government spending since the Democrats' sweeping victory in 1958.
2. Tight money. As recently as March the Democratic national committee emphasized that "the first step" of a Democratic administration "must be the reversal of the Republican high-interest, tight-money policy which has been instrumental in producing economic stagnation and precipitating two recessions."

Neither issue is dominant in this country any longer. Conditions Change Inflation is not the big danger in United States now. We have moved out of the post-World war II era of wage-price spiral, a leap-frogging of wages and prices. The sort of price rise which swings elections does not flourish under conditions existing in our nation today — more than ample production capacity, a high rate of joblessness, fierce competition among our own businessmen, and from foreign producers. No scarcities, a balanced federal budget. Assuming no new world upheaval, we would have to show perverted genius to start a new inflation spiral now.

At the same time, the era of tight money has passed into history. The slowing down of the business pace has been accompanied by a slowing down of the demand for credit, and loans have become easier to get. The federal reserve system simultaneously has shifted its policies to make credit more available.

Expect Half-Truths Of course, the tight money issue will be played up big by the Democrats and the control of inflation issue will be played up big by the Republicans. We may take for granted that a torrent of words and half-truths will be written and spoken on the subjects.

But the GOP cannot properly claim the Eisenhower administration's policies are responsible for the virtual end of inflation. Sure, the budget surplus of the past 12 months has helped, for this means the government has been taking more money out of the economy than it has been putting in, and Eisenhower's estimate in January of a $4.2 billion surplus for the new year had a tremendous psychological impact.

But the administration hasn't built the ample plant capacity in our country. The hundreds of billions of dollars poured into new factories by industry since 1946 finally have done the job. The GOP cannot claim it ended scarcities in the U.S. The passage of time did it. Nor is it responsible for the intensity of competition at home and from abroad.

New Issues Similarly, the Democrats cannot properly claim their opposition to tight money and high interest rate policies have changed them. The economy's condition has done it. The federal reserve system — our independent central bank — on its own has shifted its policy to easier money.

The political claims will be made, of course, and beneath them will be deeply serious, profoundly important questions about our growth rate and the adequacy of our anti-inflation weapons.

But inflation and tight money have largely eliminated themselves as real pocketbook issues in this campaign. In their place have emerged such issues as controlling recessions, spurring growth, competing with low-cost quality foreign producers in our own and world markets. These are the problems the next administration and congress will have to tackle hard and fast.

Progress

Richard Van Sistine, Appleton phone company district manager, said the RE prefix eventually may be replaced by a 7-3 combination, but no change is contemplated for the immediate future.

Naturally, in some places people aren't going to like giving up romantic prefix names or the distinction of having phone 1 in Asher, Okla. But romantic as it was, the stagecoach had to go too.

Eventually, phone numbers won't be partly letters and partly numbers, like Field 7-2643, but all digits, 347-2643.

(As far as the phone system is concerned, you're really dialing numbers now when you dial letters.)

Telephone Network Running Out Of Numbers, Will Drop Alphabet

Romantic Prefixes Limited in Use; All-Numeral System Begins in Texas

BY FRANCIS STILLEY New York—The nation's telephone system has started doing away with the alphabet. The telephone people are running out of—of all things—phone numbers.

Nearly 24 million phones have been added in this country just since 1950. Each one needed a number with a word prefix that people could understand, like PLaza or EVERgreen.

The problem of finding such prefixes was getting tougher all the time. The experts concluded after a lot of study and tests that there was only one thing they could do and still give folks the service they want: change the system.

All Numbers Eventually, phone numbers won't be partly letters and partly numbers, like Field 7-2643, but all digits, 347-2643.

(As far as the phone system is concerned, you're really dialing numbers now when you dial letters.)

Major Gen. Will all-digit phone numbers be harder to remember? "All numerals can be remembered for a short time in Korea with just as easily as letter numbers," said a Bell Telephone system spokesman.

"That's how most numbers are used, you look it up in the book and remember it just long enough to dial. It takes a while longer to remember the all number ones permanently, but most people remember only a few, anyway."

Civil Rights Battle Seen at Convention

ty's strongest recorded stand on civil rights. Despite a vigorous protest from delegates of nine southern states, there seemed little likelihood that the opposition would go beyond vocal fireworks or engage in any substantial bolt.

The delegates' attention was riveted on the presidential ticket maneuvering still going on despite all indications that Kennedy had the top nomination safely stowed away in his pocket.

Kennedy edged toward the 700-vote mark today.

With the actual balloting only a day away, an Associated Press tabulation showed he had 688 votes. He would need 761 votes to win.

Kennedy could make up the bulk of the difference with votes now pledged to Gov. Brown of California and Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota.

What Poll Indicates

Brown has his state's 81 votes but he has announced that he favors Kennedy for the nomination. There are 54 votes committed to Humphrey but he released them yesterday.

The AP tabulation, which includes only votes definitely committed to the candidates, showed this lineup today:

Kennedy 688, Johnson 304, Symington 90, Humphrey 51, Stevenson 41.

There were 174 votes pledged to favorite son candidates, and 170 votes still were uncommitted.

Near the elevated speakers stand the 39-vote Missouri delegation was busy with speculation. Its favorite son, Sen. Stuart Symington, was reported slowly recognizing the inevitability of Kennedy's nomination.

May be Running Mate

Would Symington accept second place on the ticket? No, replied the senator's closest friends, he still was running for the presidential nomination.

But a "perhaps" came from Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., who was not regarded as one of the most enthusiastic of Symington's rooters despite his position as head of the delegation.

"I think he might take it," Blair told a reporter.

Across the aisle Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, who was converted to the Kennedy cause the hard way several months ago, was of the same opinion.

DiSalle voiced the belief that either Johnson or Symington would take second place with alacrity. Kennedy himself almost ruled out Johnson at an earlier news conference when he said he thinks the Texas senator regards his senate leadership responsibility as greater than that of the vice presidency.

Arguments for Symington

Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, who led a majority of his state's 81 votes to Kennedy, thought a Kennedy-Symington ticket would be the best the party could offer.

This surge was bolstered by the fact that Symington is a middle westerner, is more mature in years than Kennedy, has an agricultural voting record regarded as much more pleasing to the farmers than that of the Massachusetts senator, and is acceptable to the south.

This did not rule out the possibility that Kennedy might dip into the ranks of midwestern governors for his running mate. Almost no one thought that the Massachusetts senator would leave any important office like this to the chance selection of an "open convention."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) who freed about 65 pledged delegates yesterday and estimated that more than half of them would go to Kennedy, said he believes Gov. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota has a good chance to wind up in the second spot in Thursday's convention voting.

No Commitments

Freeman said he had received no commitments in a conference yesterday with Kennedy. But he was hopeful that the secondary lightning would brush his shoulder.

Kennedy himself kept Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Albert Gore of Tennessee in the picture. He said he also has under consideration Govs. George Docking of Kansas and Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa.

For those who had no chance for second place on the national ticket there was maneuvering for other prizes. Some of these could be distributed immediately and others would have to await Democratic victory in November.

There was, for instance, the immediately available position of chairman of the Democratic National committee. Paul M. Butler is retiring from this post with finality this weekend.

Leading prospects to be picked by Kennedy for this job included Sen. Clair Engle of California and J. Leonard Reinsch, general manager of the convention.

Selection of Engle, chairman of the 81-vote California delegation, would provide west coast recognition that might be denied on the ticket itself.

Reinsch had no comparable political credits. But his youthful efficiency in handling the almost incomprehensible details of a convention such as this appealed to Kennedy's well-developed appreciation of the kind of organization work that seemed likely to make him the nominee.

There were others who had paid their political dues to the Kennedy cause but who would have to wait until the November balloting could determine their rewards, if any.

Among these, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan let it be known that if he had the choice between attorney general and secretary of health, education and welfare, he would prefer the latter.

Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Kennedy's convention floor manager, was another who seemed likely to get a cabinet award if the voters decide to return the Democrats to the White House.

Although Kennedy said he had not offered the state department portfolio to Adlai E. Stevenson, the two-time presidential nominee, this was regarded as a formality awaiting only a November victory.

The Kennedy forces were reported angling for Stevenson to present the Massachusetts senator's name in nomination, but Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma insisted that Stevenson's name will be placed before the convention.

"If the time comes when aggressive action is performed against that country," he said, "we will lend our support."

He scoffed at President Eisenhower's statement that the United States would not permit the establishment of any government in the western hemisphere designated by international communism.

Khrushchev called the decision of the United States to suspend purchases of sugar from Cuba an "aggressive step... taken with the aim of harming the economy of Cuba and disorganizing it, and of undermining the political regime."

He said the Soviet Union and its allies would gladly buy all Cuba's sugar because "people all over the world like sweets." He said the communist bloc would pay for the sugar with goods—in other words, a barter deal.

"Our goods are no worse and even better, than those Cuba has been getting from the United States," he commented.

The governor and other statehouse politicians believe that the national campaign, especially if there is a strong platform, will influence their own vote-getting prospects considerably this year, and perhaps more than purely state issues and the state Democratic platform.

Although most of them feel the Wisconsin party is favored to repeat its striking 1956 victory, the campaign managers are not inclined to discount the recuperative powers of the Republican party or the stumping talents of its youthful new state ticket.

The Wisconsin delegation's first caucus was concerned mostly with housekeeping details, including the disbursement of precious visitors' tickets. Only a few Wisconsin politicians have previous convention experience, and the small ticket quota makes it apparent that there is no special Wisconsin influence at headquarters.

Wives, Parents Hopeful

News of Downed Plane Stuns Fliers' Families

By The Associated Press
Two captured. One reported dead. Three missing. These statistics shook six American homes as they received news from Moscow that an American reconnaissance plane had been shot down by the Soviets.

"Thank God," said J. Blaine Olmstead, of Elmira, N.Y. Olmstead was expressing relief that his son, Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 24, is alive. "I have no doubt that he will be returned safely," said the elder Olmstead.

Expresses Hope
Young Olmstead's wife, Gail, expressed concern about the fate of the missing. Then, she added: "I just hope I'll see him soon."

In an interview at the home of her parents in Plainfield, N.J., Mrs. Olmstead commented on the danger of flying: "I feel it's his job and he's doing it," she said. "And it's a job that has to be done, you know."

Olmstead and Lt. John R. McCone, 38, of Tonganoxie, Kan., are the two fliers captured by a Russian vessel after they parachuted 10 days ago into the Barents sea when their RB47 plane was shot down.

Plane Missing
The United States had reported the plane missing July 1. Olmstead's mother was stricken with a heart attack when she received the news, and has been under sedation since then.

McCone's wife lives in Topeka, Kan., where the crew had been stationed. She and other wives of the men were anxiously calling each other to try to get further news.

"There naturally is relief that he has been found," said Mrs. W. M. Berkeley, of Tonganoxie. She is McCone's mother-in-law.

"The only thing we're thinking of now is to get them home," she added.

Stabbing Optimism
In the homes of the men reported missing, there was stubborn optimism, refusal to give up hope as long as there was any.

"I'm just numb," said Mrs. Dean Phillips, the wife of Lt. Dean B. Phillips, 25. "But we have hopes, very high hopes that he's still all right."

Mrs. Phillips was visiting her husband's parents at Inwood, N.Y.

Guy C. Goforth, a farmer-stock raiser near Sardis, Okla., said his family also won't give up hope that his son, 1st Lt. Oscar L. Goforth, 26, might be alive.

Screens News
In Los Angeles, Phillip Posa carefully screened all newspapers and other media to keep the alarming news from his father, Joseph Posa, 82, and his mother, Isabella, 80. Phillip's brother, Capt. Eugene E. Posa, 38, is among the missing.

"It's been quite tense," said Phillip.

Even Mrs. G. H. Jenks, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., the sister of Capt. Willard G. Palm, 39, won't give up hope.

"I hope he's OK," she said.

The Russians reported Palm was found dead in a rubber raft.

Trucker Lays Giant Egg on English Road
Rosemont, Pa. — A trailer-truck laden with eggs upset on the Lancaster pike yesterday and cases of eggs poured onto the roadway, forming a giant soufflé with gasoline spilled from the vehicle.

Roadnor township firemen spent almost five hours clearing the mess and standing guard to prevent a careless driver from creating eggs diablo.

The driver, Eugene Gollinger, 33, of York, was treated at a hospital for cuts and bruises.

An Overall View of Murphy's quarry where two young men drowned Monday evening shows searchers and swimmers moodily standing around the still waters. Warren Fassbender, 24, Black Creek drowned as he attempted to rescue fellow-swimmer Gerald Draeger, 19, Seymour. The quarry is about 1½ miles north of Black Creek.

Four Fined After Admitting Tippy Driving

New London Man Convicted Fourth Time in Six Years

Charles M. Bash, 36, of 110 E. Jennings street, New London, pleaded guilty of drunken driving when he appeared before New London Police Justice Roman Krause this morning. Bash was fined $150 and his driver's license was revoked for one year. It was Bash's fourth drunken driving conviction in six years.

Bash was arrested Monday night by New London police, 100 feet from the police station. The police had been alerted by a citizen's complaint.

Bash tested .18 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Police Arrest 2
Ernest W. Schumacher, 61, of 211 N. Fair street, and James David Hawkins, 19, of route 1, Fremont, each paid $100 and costs and had their where along the circuit, sending shock waves into the water either through a drain pipe, the ground or both.

The quarry had been posted with a "no swimming" sign, according to authorities, but youths had been swimming there for some time.

About eight swimmers were in the quarry at the time of the tragedy, but five of them were in an area away from the drowning scene.

Draeger had come to the quarry with Kissinger and Eugene Stingle, 19, of Seymour. Kissinger said both he and Draeger were in the water when Kissinger felt a shock and Draeger disappeared.

Kissinger shouted his warning about the charged water and Fassbender dove to Draeger's aid. When he hit the water, witnesses said, he seemed to "stiffen out" and disappeared.

Both youths were strong swimmers, authorities said. Orren Kahnt, 19, of Seymour, another swimmer, ran about 100 feet to some quarry workmen who immediately shut off all current switches.

Others at Scene
Fassbender's body was recovered in about 10 feet of water. Draeger was recovered about five minutes later in seven feet of water.

Leonard M. Humphrey, Seymour, told Heinritz and Kamps he had been swimming in the quarry about 20 minutes before the tragedy.

Police said his car hit a utility post at Division and Atlantic streets after going from side to side. At that time he registered .23 on the drunkometer test.

Farm Loses 30,000 Trees
Fire Burns 20 Acres Of Plantation in Waupaca County

Royalton — The Don Radtke Tree Farms, Inc., New London, lost some 30,000 Scotch pine seedlings in a fire early this morning believed to have been ignited from a spark from a trash fire started by workers on the natural gas pipeline being laid through the neighborhood.

The Royalton fire department was called out about midnight. Forest Ranger Sid Miller, Waupaca, directed the firefighting.

The tree plantation is on the so-called Brasch farm in the Hobart district of the town of Royalton. From 18 to 20 acres were burned over.

A spokesman of the tree firm said the seedling were 3 to 4 years old. Original cost of the seedlings was $20 per 1,000 and that 1,500 were set out in each acre.

The Scotch pine is a prime favorite for Christmas trees demanding prices up to $5 each. The eventual value of the burned over trees could have reached $150,000, it was estimated.

average of the last five years. Last year's spending was low because heavy market demands caused the company to defer about $8 million of scheduled machine rebuilding in order to maintain uninterrupted production, board chairman John R. Kimberly said.

This year's capital expenditures will be made entirely from retained earnings and working capital, Kimberly said.

"The new decade appears to offer promise of prosperity and progress at least equal to any previous period in the company's history," Kimberly told shareholders. He cited predictions of a 30 million increase in U. S. population, a 9-million rise in family units and a 25 per cent increase in average income, per family.

"Must Grow Substantially"
"We must grow substantially and our proportional share in the growing market," he said. "We can only estimate how much more we must grow to take care of anticipated increases in this share, and to fill the demand for new products not yet in production."

A total of $123 million put into expansion and improvement in the last five years is now reflecting in improved earnings and efficiencies, he said. Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon will also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebuilding action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today! Introductory size 43c.

Old Format Gets New Junior High Twist for Fall Season

Celebrities to Introduce Talent on Rerun of Arthur Godfrey's Standby

BY JINGO
Arthur Godfrey's old "Talent Scout" format will be borrowed in a CBS network series to be premiered Aug. 1. The twist that makes it new in the eyes of the network moguls is that instead of unknown "scouts" introducing "unknown" talent, the scouts will be celebrities.

Sam Levenson, education's brightest gift to the entertainment world, will fill old Arthur's chair as host and on the premiere performance Phil "Glad To See Ya" Silvers and Ann "long-time no see" Sheridan will be two of the "scouts."

On other performances the "scouts" will include such luminaries as Polly Bergen, Ernie Kovacs, Edie Adams, Myrna Loy, Betty Comden and Adolph Green, Billy Rose, Shelley Berman, Paulette Goddard, Julius LaRosa, Johnny Ray and Jeanne Crain.

If the talent has actually been discovered by such scouts as these, Jingo wonders "what more help could the performer need?"

How time changes viewpoints! Not very many moons ago a struggling comedian got his break on a daytime show that originated in New York practically at dawn by Gotham's standards and he soon was known as a bright TV star. In the meantime, he has made his name bright on Schubert alley and now Dick Van Dyke has won the billing of musical-comedy star. He will be among the guests on Ed Sullivan's taped show Sunday. Mann Says It's Too Far East; Restates Building Needs

The Appleton public schools have been offered a school site two blocks east of Meade street and one block north of Highway 41, the board of education was told Monday.

Supt. John P. Mann said the location of the land, offered by the J. K. Rath agency of Appleton, was not ideal, but more new schools will be needed soon.

Mann said the board first should decide whether to continue having three years of junior high school and three of high school, or whether to change to a 4-year high school organization. The city would need one new high school, on the south side, for the present organization or two new 4-year high schools.

For a junior high school, which the board is seeking on the north side of the city, a site west of Meade street would be best, Mann said.

Mann also repeated his recommendation for an addition to the Foster school and for another new south side elementary school.

Last Wednesday Ralph Edwards started his reruns of the "This Is Your Life" program for the summer. The kinescopes will be the order of the day until Sept. 25 when "TYL" moves to a Sunday time slot. There will be a preponderance of show business peoples' lives on the fall schedule since the audiences have responded the most to this type fare—so you can stop worrying about mysterious calls to visit the coast, it most likely will be for some other reason if you haven't had show biz background.

Edwards has another format on the cooker. It calls for audience participation in calling crucial baseball plays. After the audience has voiced its approval, a film of the actual play and call will be shown. All-Star Baseball will be the show's monicker.

Chief Neumann To Have Honor Guard at Funeral

Police and firemen in full dress uniform and white gloves will form the honor guard Wednesday at the funeral of Fire Chief Paul A. Neumann.

The official delegation of local and visiting dignitaries, firemen and police will number about 175.

They will assemble in the No. 1 fire station, Oneida and Washington streets, at 9 a.m. The city hall parking lot will be blocked off and reserved for their vehicles, and they will leave the parking lot at 9:30 a.m. for St. Joseph Catholic church.

The requiem mass for Chief Neumann, who died Sunday night, will be at 10 a.m. Burial will be in Highland Memorial park.

Appleton Band To Play Tonight

The Appleton City band under the direction of Gerald Jensen will play its second concert at Pierce park at 7:45 p.m. today.

Secret of Attraction Revealed

Four Japanese Girls Tell Why U. S. Males Find Them Appealing

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

Hollywood — Why do American men find Japanese women so appealing?

The question has been asked in recent times because of the number of G.I.'s who return from duty in Japan with high praise for their treatment by the native women. A sizable number brought back brides.

The place to find an answer appeared to be the set of "Cry For Happy," a new comedy about navy men who take over a geisha house. Here were four attractive and talented Japanese girls playing the roles of geishas. Though only one was born in Japan, all professed to be reared in the old tradition. Mama-San of the geishas was Miiko Taka, Seattle-born Nisei who has been to Japan four times, including once to play opposite Marlon Brando in "Sayonara."

Give Attention
"Why do American men like Japanese girls?" she said. "Because everyone likes attention, and the Japanese girl is trained to give the man attention. The man is the ruler of the family over there, and that is as it should be."

"But sometimes that can be overdone. I think it is degrading for a woman to be a servant to her husband. There is a difference between helping and serving."

Miyoshi Umeki is a native Japanese, winner of an Oscar for "Sayonara" and plaudits for "Flower Drum Song" on Broadway. Said she:

"Yes, a Japanese woman is always subservient to the man—until she gets him. To all outward appearances, the husband seems to be the ruler. But the wife has ways to make her influence felt, just as in any country."

Miyoshi is married to TV producer Win Ope. In view of her upbringing, does she consider that he is always right?

"I don't know whether he is always right," she replied craftily. "The important thing is to make him think he is always right."

Tsuruko Kobayashi is also known as Mrs. Marvin Fineberg. She was born in Hawaii, came to Hollywood from "Majority Of One" on the New York stage, has never seen Japan.

Middle Way
She was brought up in the old-country, rice-three-meals-a-day tradition wherein she was taught to cater to the male's comforts. "But I practice a middle course with my husband," she said. "I think there should be a compromise between being a servant and dominating the family, as some American women do. I think many Japanese

Committees Dissolved

Mrs. Davis Elected To Head School Board

The Appleton board of education Monday elected four new officers and voted to discontinue its two standing committees.

Mrs. Myrl N. Davis was chosen president to replace Edward V. Krueger, who said vice president; Victor Sumnitch, secretary, and Earl W. Harder, assistant secretary.

Instead of the standing education and business affairs committees, the board will have special committees study specific matters when the board or its president think it is necessary. Other matters will be considered by the board as a whole.

The change was proposed by Nehs and received support of Supt. John P. Mann.

Two topics which had been referred to the education committee — dismissed time for religious instruction and federal aid, including the milk program and National Defense Education Act — were put on continue leading the board's the July 25 board agenda. Representatives of the Appleton Council of Churches will be invited to speak on dismissed continuing to entertain and interview candidates for the

55-Minute Classes to Make High School Days Longer

Appleton High school students will start school seven minutes earlier in the morning, have eight minutes less and stay one minute later in the afternoon next year, the board of education decided Monday. The time changes follow an accreditation requirement of the school area.

the North Central Association Board member Edward V. Krueger said it might create more problems, however, of addressing men that is at least 55-minute periods in the of going home for lunch.

Mann said the high school cafeteria is adequate to serve the additional students who might eat there during shorter lunch period.

School Population Increase at 453

Rate of Rise Declines; South, Northeast of City Grow Most

The number of school age children in the Appleton school district continued to grow during the last year, but not as fast as in recent years. The 1960 school census shows an increase of 453 during the year, for a total of 15,012. An additional 4,790 children under the age of 4 bring the number of children under 20 to 19,802.

This year's increase is considerably smaller than last year's record jump of 837 and is the smallest increase since 1953.

Supt. John P. Mann explained to the board of education Monday that the greatest increase has come in the south and northeast areas of the district.

Nine Areas
The census figures are divided into nine areas — the city's old six wards, Calumet county and Grand Chute's old districts 1 and 10.

Greatest increase in school age children came in the area around the McKinley school on the south side, which jumped from 2,702 to 2,875, an increase of 173.

The area around the Franklin school in the north has 2,282 school age children, an increase of 92 in the year. The part of the city in Calumet county had the greatest relative increase, increasing nearly 20 per cent to a new total of 546.

Other areas growing in school age population are around the Jefferson school in the southwest, which now has 2,078; Huntley school in the northeast, 1,386, and the children in the Appleton-Bell Heights area in the northwest, 1,156.

The three central census areas dropped in school age population — Edison to 1,303, Columbus to 860 and Washington to 2,346.

Younger children are the most largest groups. The census lists 1,127 children born during the year, and 2-year-olds, numbering 1,230, are the largest age group.

There are 1,000 or more children in each age group up to 10, while there are only 551 in the 19-year-old category.

Boys outnumber girls in both pre-school and school age groups, although for some years the girls are most numerous. There are 2,487 pre-school boys, 2,293 pre-school girls, 7,708 school age boys and 7,304 school age girls.

Noon Survey Shows Very Light Voting

Noon reports of voting in the special school district referendum today indicate that turnout may be even lower than in the record light vote of the May 31 referendum.

Today's election will determine whether Twin Willows district joins the city of Appleton for school purposes.

In the city, a total of 146 people voted this morning—30 fewer than the May 31 election on attachment of Badger and Triangle district to the city, City Clerk Elden J. Broehm reported.

At the Grand Chute town hall, 18 people voted this morning. All were residents of Twin Willows district, although the areas of the town in Appleton for school purposes also are to vote there.

The busiest polling places in the city were the 18th and 19th wards, each of which had 10 voters. The quietest were the 13th and 14th wards and Ninth ward First precinct, each of which had only four voters before noon.

In the Badger-Triangle election, there were 945 votes cast in the city by the time polls closed at 8 p. m. This was 4.7 per cent of the registered voters.

Robert Smith, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Owatonna, Minn., located his left arm at about 2 p. m. Monday when he fell through a door at 1533 Palisades drive, where his family is visiting.

Recommend Joint Counties Airport

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 of the federal aid airport program, the consultants said, will be slightly higher than at the other sites.

The report noted site 2 most conveniently serves the major communities of Outagamie county as well as Neenah-Menasha and the development of it would require the closing of only two rural roads and closing one small school, the Elm Tree school.

The consultants estimated that $1,732,000 would have to be spent on the present airport site if it is to be retained. "Although there is no absolute technical limitation to the development of the present Outagamie county airport," the report said, "the airport will still be only marginally adequate in terms of available building areas and surrounding land use."

County Profits

"In our opinion," the report continued, "if the present Outagamie airport is retained and developed, the county will be required to undertake the necessary improvements at the airport. On the other hand, if a new airport were to be developed, the county could realize an amount from the sale of the present port."

In the opinion of the appraisers, the report said the county could realize over $500,000 if it were to improve and subdivide the property itself. The appraisal appears to be extremely conservative, the consultants said.

Site 4, where the consultants recommend construction of a joint airport, is three miles west of Neenah and 12 miles from Oshkosh. It has, the report notes, fairly level terrain and fair drainage. It is two miles west of Highway 41, a distance required because of the glide slope clearance required over the major transmission line paralleling Highway 41.

900 Acres

This site, as for site 2, would involve 900 acres of land at an approximate cost of $750 per acre. This figure, the report notes, is an average based upon a cursory investigation by a local real estate agent.

In view of the uncertainty no attempt was made to include possible FAAP or state funds which might be made available for any of the alternative programs. It should be recognized, they added, that a portion of the total costs would probably be covered by federal and state funds.

Other sites considered in the report but not recommended were: Site 1, seven miles northeast from the center of Appleton in Outagamie county; site 3, four miles southwest of Appleton, mostly in Winnebago, and site 5, four miles southeast of Appleton in Calumet county. These sites were regarded as less promising for a variety of reasons, including proximity of power lines, improper location with regard to major population centers, etc.

Estimate Proceeds

Proceeds from the sale of both the Outagamie and Winnebago county airports, in the event the counties were to go ahead with the consultant's first recommendation, are based upon the appraisal of the Outagamie county port but in the case of Winnebago county, have been assumed at an average of $1,250 per acre for the 300 acres at Winnebago county airport.

An origin-destination survey undertaken by the consultants shows there is a separate and distinct air trade area for Green Bay which does not extend as far south as Appleton. However, the Outagamie-Winnebagos counties' area is actually a single air trade area which, at the present time, is served primarily by Winnebago county airport because of the relatively high frequency of schedules at that airport.

Joint Airport Best

This supports the thinking of the consultants that a joint airport would most adequately serve the entire region.

The consultants point out, however, that only summary findings and conclusions are presented in the report. Detailed facts and data are contained in the firm's working papers upon which its conclusions are based. Outagamie county and other affected agencies should consider the conclusions and alternate development programs set forth in the report, the consultants said, and determine a future course of action prior to additional research and planning.

Ask Meeting With Winnebago Board

A meeting of the chairman and the airport committees of the Outagamie and Winnebago county boards to discuss recommendations contained in the report of Leigh Fisher and Associates was requested at noon today by the Outagamie board of supervisors.

The meeting, it was said, will have to be arranged at the convenience of the Winnebago supervisors.

Board Chairman Alvin Fulcher and Supv. Mark Catlin, Jr., indicated they have received little encouragement for a joint meeting by Winnebago board members in informal talks with them.

Night Police Beat

Telephone's Ring Brings Violence, Tragedy As Reporter Sits Alone in Darkened City Room

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

This is how it sometimes happens when you work the police beat.

9:10 p.m. — You sit alone in the half-darkened city room sipping luke-warm coffee from a paper cup, catching up on work you've put off for days.

9:15 p.m. — A phone rings and you wonder if you should answer. Finally you pick it up. It's a sheriff's department radio man. He tells you there's been a double drowning — that the sheriff and the coroner are on the way to a hospital. You hang up, grab some paper and run for your car. It's a warm night, but you feel a chill.

Sheriff, Coroner

9:25 — You arrive at the hospital. A telephone operator and an engineer working the 4 to 12 shift are on duty. They tell you the coroner and the sheriff have not arrived but that an ambulance is on the way with the victims.

You walk with the engineer to the big double doors at the emergency entrance and you light another cigaret. And you wait.

9:40 — The flashing red light of the ambulance cuts through the night and you make out its black form as it pulls into the driveway, backs up to the doors. Two nurses appear from nowhere. Their movements are quick, efficient. They prepare two stretchers.

Two ambulance men get out. They open the rear door and you see the blanket-draped forms. The unloading is quick, almost effortless, and the stretchers disappear into an elevator. The two big doors swing shut.

10 p.m. — The radio operator calls the hospital to say the sheriff and coroner will arrive in 15 minutes. Again you wait.

Ride Upstairs

10:15 — Outagamie county Sheriff Robert Heinritz and Coroner Bernard H. Kemps arrive. They greet you at the door. You ride up with the coroner as the sheriff assembles some photographic gear. The elevator stops and you turn to your right, walk down a hall to the emergency room. Your footsteps sound loud, hollow. You see the stretchers. This time the forms are covered with sheets.

10:20 — You ask Kemps for the details. Then you realize the victims. The sheriff beckons, you leave together. When you are in his squad car you ask him for details. He says, "You give me a blank X-ray consultation request form. You a girl is in a home adjoining a tavern in a neighboring town. She has been assaulted. The squad car speeds through the night — you and the sheriff sit silently, each thinking your own thoughts. There's only the periodic squawking of the radio to break the quiet."

Heinritz Kemps

scribble your notes on the back of it. Meanwhile, the sheriff comes up and the picture-taking begins.

10:30 — The phone rings and a nurse answers. It's for the sheriff. Heinritz talks quickly and in quiet tones. Then he turns to the coroner. "We'll have to finish up here fast," he says. "I've got to go out on a reported attempted assault."

Leave Together

10:45 — The formalities as far as the sheriff is concerned are over. The coroner has much work to do yet. He gives you a photograph of one of Block comes into the room to announce that the suspect is under arrest and outside in a squad car. After the sheriff makes arrangements for further investigation, you both walk outside. The suspect is slumped sullenly in the rear seat of the squad car. You meet Hortonville Police Chief Ira Dominowski who aided in the capture. The law enforcement men gather in a small group to discuss the situation. Patrolman Block transfers the prisoner to his car for the trip to the county jail.

12:15 — You and the sheriff return to his car to start the trip back to Appleton. The night is black, but there's a bright moon. Fog hangs thick, swirling in low spots.

1:10 — Sheriff Heinritz drops you off at your car, still parked in the hospital lot.

1:30 — You're back in the office. The paper coffee cup, now soggy and yellowed, is where you left it. You light a cigaret and spread your notes out before you. Then, for the first time, you feel the sadness.

Before you on your desk are some notes on the reverse side of a hospital form — a photograph — an empty pack of cigarets — an old coffee cup — fragments of a story of life and of death and of violence on a moonlight night when the fog hung low and the wind was warm.

1:45 a.m. — You start the lead to your story:

"This is how it sometimes happens . . ."

Close Erb Pool When Old Filter Motor Fails

The Erb park swimming pool was forced to close this morning when the main electric motor on the filter system broke down.

Director of Public Works Edwin Duszynski says it will take at least two days to give the motor the overhaul it needs.

He says as far as he knows this is the first time the motor has needed repair. It has been in use since the pool opened in 1941.

No Substitute

Duszynski said it is not possible to get a substitute motor to use while the old one is being fixed, because it is custom made and there isn't another like it available.

The pool was used for the regular free swimming lessons this morning, and after that the water had reached the point where it was not safe to use without filtration.

This is the third time in two years that various failures have hampered the pool's operation.

Past Troubles

Last summer the pool was closed early because it leaked. The bill skyrocketed from the usual $400 to about $2,000.

Old leaks were fixed and pipes tested this spring. But when water was put in new leaks developed, delaying opening of the pool by about two weeks.

It finally opened June 26, and attendance has been averaging about 1,500 daily.

Total attendance from opening day to Sunday was 20,277.

Humphrey Cuts State Backers From Pledges

Expect Delegates To be Too Late To Affect Vote

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Los Angeles — A handful of Wisconsin convention delegates who had been pledged to Sen. Hubert Humphrey, wondered today if they will become merely minor footnotes in this political story.

Ten Humphrey delegates were finally and formally released from their troth as the convention opened Monday by Sen. Humphrey himself, but the action might have come too late for them to board the Kennedy bandwagon for any political credit.

All signs indicated that the Kennedy forces would harvest the majority for the nomination on the first roll call, and probably before Wisconsin is called in the roll of the states.

Some Dissenters

It appeared fairly certain that a majority of the freed Humphrey votes would join with the 20 pledged Kennedy delegates from the state, but there were likely to be some dissenters too. About five of the Humphrey delegates, with a half vote apiece, prefer the nomination of Adlai Stevenson, although they privately lament that Stevenson's cause appears hopeless.

Humphrey specifically released his delegates with an endorsement of the candidacy of Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota for the vice presidency, which looked to the Wisconsin politicians like an oblique hint that the Humphrey votes would fit best in the Kennedy camp.

Freeman's best chance for the vice presidential nomination, it is generally thought, would be behind Kennedy.

Calls Caucus

Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Clark county, head of the forlorn Humphrey troops here from Wisconsin, said he would summon another caucus, probably today, to attempt to steer the released Wisconsin votes as a unit. The outlook was that they will be scattered between Stevenson and Kennedy.

There was some courtship of the Wisconsin votes from the Lyndon Johnson headquarters, meanwhile, but no sign that it is bearing any fruit. The Wisconsin delegates are berthed in a hotel with batches of Johnson champions with whom they are on extremely amicable terms, but there is no chance that the Texan can pick up any Wisconsin stragglers.

will be only the barest beginning toward a policy adequate to quarantine the Castro virus.

It remains clear that the United States can never afford to take the slightest military measure against Castro. World opinion would automatically bellow "imperialism", even though Castro's open alliance with the Soviet Union plainly indicates that if anybody is preparing aggression, it is surely not the "Yankee colossus."

It is becoming equally clear, that Latin - American relations will be re-examined by the new administration and new congress. Our ablest Latin - American friends believe in our own interests (and admittedly in their interest, too) we must consider something like a small Marshall plan for this hemisphere.

The problem is similar to the one we faced in Europe immediately after the war. Want and chaos must be ended lest communism uses want and chaos to entrench itself. As to the military side of the problem. Sen. Smathers' tireless recommendations for a hemisphere security force under the Organization of American States are now making some headway. Some men, both in the administration and in congress, are showing a willingness at least to examine the proposal. This is a real gain. So is the fact that professional "liberals," who in the beginning put Castro up as a kind of secular saint, have ceased their syrupy eulogies of this bearded, poetic lynch.

It is even possible that for the first time in modern history Latin America may become involved in the Presidential campaign itself. It is no longer possible to look at this hemisphere as a low-priority foreign policy area. It is becoming absolutely necessary to look homeward as well as across the seas. (Copyright, 1960)

Colorado Swimming Pool Causes Elbow Infections

An epidemic of skin infections among school children in a Colorado resort town has led to the discovery of the first reported American case of a condition called swimming pool granuloma.

The infections, mostly of the elbow, caused scaly scars and open sores and have given false positive reactions to tuberculosis skin tests.

Some 262 persons developed the infection after swimming in a mineral water pool. The water of the pool contained an organism called mycobacterium balnei, Dr. Roy L. Cleere, director of the Colorado public health department reports in the June, 1960 Journal of the American Osteopathic association.

Doctors conjectured that the infections were caused by the swimmers scraping their elbows as they clung to the side of the pool.

Blistering Develop Most of the cases developed as small reddish blisters on the elbow, knee or foot about three weeks after the person swam in the mineral pool. After about two weeks, the blister usually lost fluid and then formed a brownish crust or scab. In one case the scabbing pools to find any traces of mycobacterium balnei, he added. Doctors were partly successful in curing the infection by surgical removal of the area. In some cases, however, the skin removal resulted in spreading the infection.

Dr. Cleere said that operators of the swimming pool would completely rebuild it in an effort to kill the harmful organisms in the water. Close checks will be made by public health authorities on other scab. In one case the scabbing pools to find any traces of mycobacterium balnei, he added. Doctors were partly suc-

Day, Stay Campers Blaze Trail, Clear Site at Winnecomac

Mrs. Lloyd Beach, better known as "Beachy", sprays mosquito repellent on Mary Jane Brigham, Neenah, before the Girl Scouts embark into the woods at Camp Winnecomac in search of a campsite. Mrs. Beach is co-counselor of the 8-girl patrol.

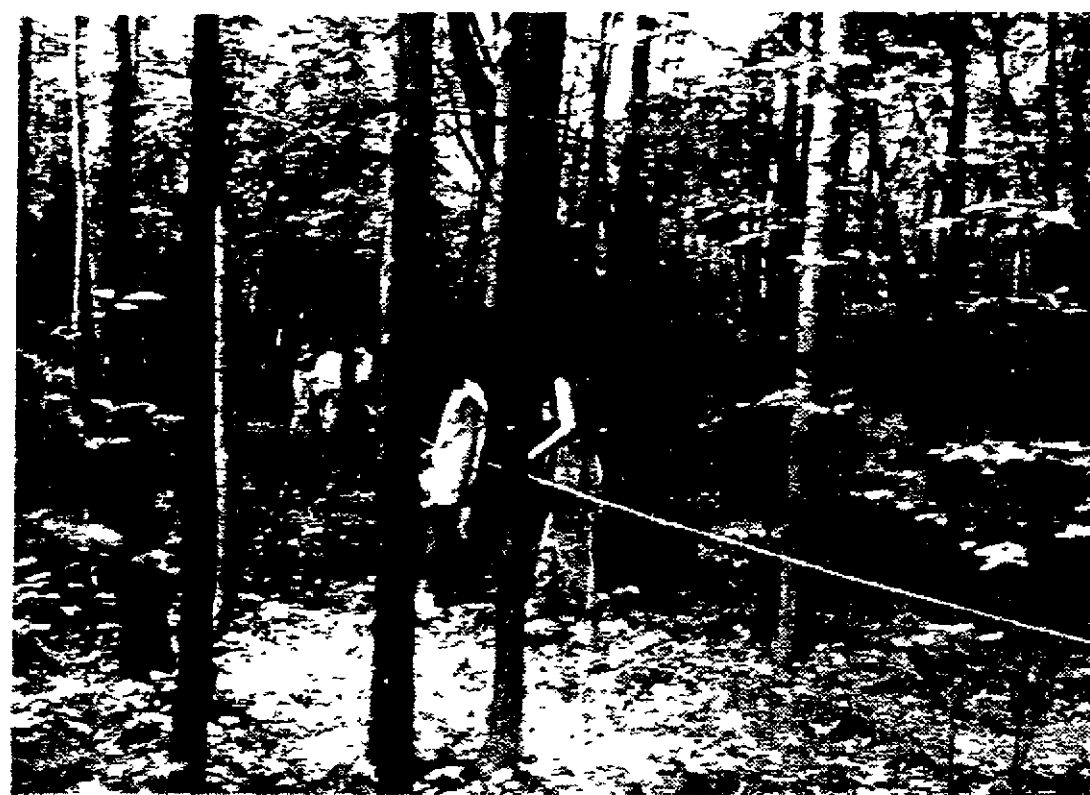

After a spraying to ward off mosquitoes, the next step is lugging the equipment into the woods to the campsite. Although the area is not too far from the main hall, the many trees and shrubs conceal it completely from any passers-by. The metal container being carried contains an all day supply of water. Food, knives, axes and more repellent were also taken along by the girls.

The Campers Brought Twine along to string on the trees to mark out their trail. After stringing the twine, the next step was to clear the trail of any roots and shrubs. Jean Buchanan, Appleton, and Carol Panske, Neenah, get the group started by fastening the twine on a tree near the campsite.

At Left, an overall view of the girls stringing twine through the trees from their campsite to the main trail. At right, Mrs. Harlow Hilliker, Neenah, co-counselor, gives lessons in using the hatchet to Susan Rydberg, Rose Wyn Hirschy and Peggy Lee Haag, all of Neenah. This is the first year the day and stay camp program has been in operation. Two patrols of 8 girls each come to camp the first week on a daily basis, develop a site, plan menus and the program. During the second week they will remain in camp, pitch tents and prepare all their food outside. Already on the menu are chicken, cherry cobbler and cake.

Pair Weds in Milwaukee Ceremony

Miss Suzanne E. Zuehlke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Zuehlke, Milwaukee, was married to C. A. Larsen, III, Sioux City, Iowa, in a double ring ceremony Saturday evening at the First Congregational church, Wauwatosa. Mr. Zuehlke was formerly of Appleton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Larsen, Jr., Sioux City, Iowa. The wedding reception was held at the church. The newlyweds are graduates of the University of Minnesota. Mr. Larsen is in the printing business. Guests from Appleton who attended the services were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Zuehlke, senior and junior. Mrs. Alice Babcock, Mrs. John Jacquot, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard W. Zuehlke. Dr. Zuehlke performed ushering services at the wedding.

Families Entertain At Sunday Reunions

About 104 family members and guests attended the Gagnow reunion Sunday at Rock-lan Gerlach, Northbrook, Ill., ledge park, Seymour. Festivities included a potluck dinner, supper and games. Mr. and Mrs. Harlan S. Kirk were guests of honor at a farewell reception given Sunday evening by the three junior choirs of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Kirk has directed the choirs for the past 10 years. She and her family will soon move to E. Lansing, Mich.

About 100 parents and young people attended the reception. Junior and senior high school students managed the tea table. Mrs. Herbert Becker and Mrs. Melvin Ruth were in charge.

Your Problems

Kooky Sister-in-Law Exposes Woman's Youngsters to Mumps

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's kooky sister thinks she knows everything. Donna has four children. They are always coughing and sneezing and getting every kind of childhood disease in the book. Last winter they had measles, chickenpox and scarlet fever. assorted allergies, colds, flu, earaches, and sore throats.

Landers

Several days ago she came to my house (I have three children under seven years of age) and one of her youngsters looked as if he had the mumps. When he complained of soreness behind his ears I took his temperature (it was 102).

I said "Donna, I think Glen has the mumps." She replied, "I think so, too." I then told her she had a nerve to bring him to my house and expose my youngsters. She said, "It's healthy for kids to get everything early."

I am furious because my two kids came down with the mumps yesterday. Is she right?—Kook's Sister-in-Law. Dear Mother: Your kooky sister-in-law is mistaken. Your doctor will tell you that every normal precaution should be taken to protect children against all diseases.

It's stupid for a mother to take a sick child anywhere. A youngster with a fever should be at home. Furthermore, most children get enough illnesses without inviting more. She did you no favor.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm the mother of five school-age children. I must work to support the family because my husband is ill.

A woman lives near us who is separated from her husband. She calls my husband almost every day to help her out of an "emergency." He has fixed her lights, gone to the store (in her car) torn off a door because the key was lost, untangled her dog from his chain, fixed the plumbing in her kitchen, taken off her storm windows and moved stuff from the attic to the basement.

I think she makes up excuses to see him. Am I being petty because I have to go to work and he doesn't? Please straighten me out.—Work-horse Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Any man who is capable of helping a neighbor out of the emergencies" you describe ought to be able to help his wife out by getting a part-time job. I recommend it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 13-year-old son and his friend saved their allowance for weeks to hear a well-known pianist. They took along autograph books in case they were lucky enough to see the celebrity after the concert.

About 5:00 in the afternoon Buddy came home with a long face. I asked what was wrong. He said the concert was great but afterwards he and his pal went to the stage door and after waiting for an hour the pianist appeared. They complimented him and asked for his autograph. He brushed them aside and said his hands were too tired.

My husband was furious and suggested the boys write a scolding letter. What is your advice?—B's Mother

Dear Mother: A letter is a good idea, but not a "scolding" one. Something like this would be more effective:

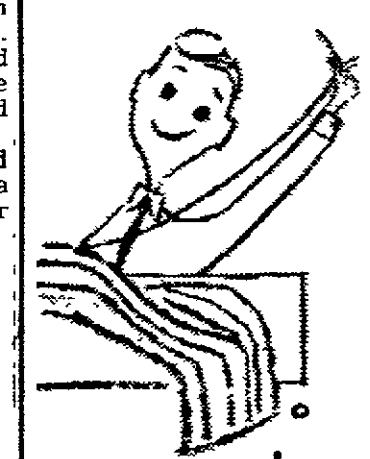

Dear—: My name is Buddy, and I am 13 years old. My friend and I saved for a long time to buy tickets to your concert. It was great. We waited for an hour at the stage door to get your autograph. You refused us.

because your hands were tired. Our hands were tired, too — from applauding. Thank you anyway.—"

Dieting Parents Shouldn't Skimp on Youngsters Meals

BY ANGELO PATRI

Enjoying one's meals seems to be an indication of weak character, or something, nowadays. So many people are weight conscious that a hostess fears to place a wholesome attractive meal on the table.

"I wonder if they eat food when he has that empty feeling. Nor does he understand his mother's shudder abroad for dessert but if they refuse it I'll hate myself for cutting it." "I know she is dieting but I don't know about him. He looks as though he might enjoy roast beef — but I don't know, really."

It is bad enough to see people refuse good food when one stands and often resent the knows they would enjoy eating it — and maybe they are in need of it, but I've noticed that when the mother of the family is dieting she is likely right to modify their eating to skip on the food of others also. Children, for example.

Adolescent boys are the worst sufferers if this happens to be so in his home. These boys, and some girls all the food they want, the who have not been affected by this diet idea, are hun-food — eggs, milk, cheese, gry. Their growing bodies demand food and more food but the sight of them eating help- ing after helping annoys the mother — or father, who is "on a diet." "However you can eat so much beats me," is often said to the hungry adolescent. He doesn't understand any need for refusing food when he has that empty feeling. Nor does he understand his mother's shudder when, after having a full meal he returns about an hour or cutting it." "I know she is dieting but I don't know about him. He looks as though he might enjoy roast beef — but I don't know, really."

Children quite understand illness making a diet necessary but they cannot understand one and often resent the raised eyebrow of the dieter when they are hungry and want to eat.

Grownup people have a right to modify their eating so as not to be overweight for them. Carrying excess weight is not sensible. But watch the adolescent and make certain he — and she — particularly she — have the food they want, the who have not been affected by this diet idea, are hun-food — eggs, milk, cheese, gry. Their growing bodies de-

And give the adolescent girl special attention in this. Angelo Patri offers readers' leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

ASSUMED INVITATION WAS HOAX

I received an invitation to a tea and shower given by someone I don't know at all and "honoring Miss Mary X" and I have never heard of her either. A notation on the invitation said, "Reply if declining." My mother, my sister and my husband's Miss Davis mother were also invited and they are as baffled as I am, not knowing the hostess or Mary X. We decided that it was a mistake or a joke, so didn't acknowledge. Later we discovered that the party was a bridal shower. Will you please comment and tell me if I made a mistake by not answering the invitation?

Louise Davis Answers: Since you had no proof in the beginning that the invitation was a mistake or a joke, I think it would have been wise to have given the hostess the benefit of the doubt by declining in writing as requested. By far the worst mistake was inviting total strangers to a shower which required you to bring or send gifts. It seems weird for anyone to give such a party inviting total strangers. I just don't understand any part of it except that there were hands out for a haul of gifts. I am assuming that you didn't fall for the hint by sending anything. Although you should have replied, don't lose any sleep over it.

A Lovelier You

Looking Ahead

Protection against damage is very simple, just as it should be. Ever making a fetish or a production of it would only lose a child's cooperation. Then, as every mother knows, nothing can be accomplished.

These are the protective measures: 1. Before your child plays in the sun, apply suntan lotion. This is a necessary precaution, even after she has built up a tan. 2. Since wettings by swims and showers are no substitute for sunbathing, patience on your part, but the for suds, shampoo her hair once weekly. 3. Her skin requires a daily sudsing in the

Summer Help Creates Employers' Problems

BY VIVIAN BROWN
Many employers have become wary of job-hunting students because of the attitude they take toward their summer employment. Some employers feel it just isn't worth the bother to train young people for jobs because they sometimes prove to be disappointments.
What are their complaints?

Tell Troth of Marilee Duwe, Kenneth Zempel

Miss Marilee Duwe, 1831 W. Commercial street, is engaged to marry Pvt. Kenneth Zempel, Bear Creek. Parents of the bride-elect are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duwe, Clintonville.

Miss Marilee Duwe

ville, and Pvt. Zempel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zempel, Coleman.

Miss Duwe graduated from Clintonville High school and is employed by the Aid Association for Lutherans. Her fiancé is an alumnus of Bear Creek High school and is stationed in Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

A wedding date has not been set.

How can you profit by them? An employer who hired a girl as a waitress at a summer resort said: "Many students work at resorts because they feel it is a vacation in a sense. The majority are willing to conform to regulations, but many girls are rude to guests who do not leave the expected tip. One girl managed to lose business for us because she froze out people who did not give her the gratuities she anticipated. I'd rather have mature women in the job, unless the girls regain their perspective."

Adman's Lament
An advertising man who has a small business says that the big problem with young people today is that they don't want to do a day's work for the money they earn. "I hired a girl who could do stenography and wanted to be a secretary. If the job worked out, she said, she would like to go to college at night and continue to work in the fall."

"We hired her but after three weeks she was working about four hours a day. She took several half-hour coffee breaks, cigarette breaks, ran out to shop during the day, talked on the phone to her friends throughout the day, took long lunch hours, came in a half-hour late in the morning, and took a day off whenever she was out late the night before. The final straw was when she balked at staying a few minutes overtime to help us on a special project."

Sloppy Appearance
Another employer experienced a let-down when the girl's appearance became a problem.

"When we hired a girl to be a receptionist in our office, she looked very attractive," he explains. "Her clothes were just right for the job. She was well-groomed and looked like a young lady should look in a job like that. In no time, she dressed like a sloppy member of the campus pizza pie set. When she came to work in flat shoes without stockings, chewing gum, we fired her. It was the only thing we could do, but I doubt that it taught her a lesson. Some young girls refuse to grow up to the trusts they seek."

One employer had a girl who operated a monitor your sewing friends, a scissors case may be. The office staff was out to lunch one day and she was left in control when an important client called to ask a you sewing question. She told him that she couldn't talk then and have but rare would call him back. When she did, she said she was sorry she couldn't talk then and have but rare would call him back. When she did, she said she was sorry she couldn't talk then and have but rare would call him back.

Employers can't afford to lose business with inexperienced help. Many firms have given young students the chance for summer employment in their firms, but it is going to be difficult for young girls to clinch these jobs in the future unless they learn that time in the office belongs to the boss, and that a good appearance counts on a job. It's a good thing to know this when you seek a job, so that you can impress your employer-to-be with your eagerness to work.

Insomnia Trouble?

If beauty sleep is hard to come by these hot July nights, try this soothing, cooling ritual. Before retiring, take a leisurely bath in tepid, neither hot nor cold, water. Dry by patting with the towel, not rubbing. Pat the body with chilled, good quality witch hazel. As the tonic evaporates the delightful cooling sensation lasts long enough for you to drop off to sleep.

Schedule Luncheon

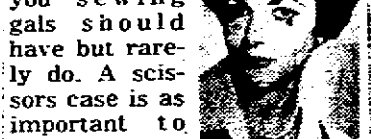

The Royal Neighbors will hold a noon luncheon Thursday at the Appleton hotel. Members will then play cards at the Catholic club.

Christians Can Become Light In Darkness

Church Members Have a Name to Live Up to, Pastor Says

How Christians, by turning their faith into action, can become a light in the darkness of their surroundings was the subject of a sermon preached Sunday by the Rev. Ronald Schmidt, assistant pastor at First English Lutheran Church.

"Sometimes a human personality is like a light in a dark room. A person can, by the things he does or says, add more luster or pep to his surroundings. It is sometimes said that we are part of the people we have known. We make ourselves richer by our friendships."

The pastor pointed out that men learn from their teachers, superiors and fellow workers.

Great Imitators

"We may consciously or unconsciously over a period of time begin to imitate the mannerisms of people we like or admire. Human beings," the Rev. Mr. Schmidt said, "are great imitators."

"Yes, we do learn from other people. We can always recognize a Christian life when we see it, because the virtues stand out."

"Just as we learn from other people, so they learn from us. By our actions we may have more influence than we know upon the lives and thoughts of others. You and I as Christians have a name to live up to. There are many other people, not necessarily church members, who are quite interested in the way we act, how we conduct our lives and our dealings with others, business or otherwise."

Christian Morality

"It has often been thrown in our faces by outsiders that church people aren't any different from anybody else — that we like the rest of the world are out to make a nickel without too many scruples."

"It is often said that our morals aren't above reproach, after all. It becomes a very convenient excuse for more worldly people to charge us with being hypocrites, hiding behind the Bible and a few religious sounding phrases that really don't mean anything. It is true that these charges are unfair because they are based on the actions of a few and do not generally indicate the feelings of most Christians."

"Of course, the truth is that the church is for sinners and that naturally its members are not perfect. It is because we need God's forgiveness and his help that we come to church on Sunday."

Not Of The World

"We come to church to admit our failures, confess our sins and ask God to have mercy on us," the Rev. Mr. Schmidt said.

He added that as Christians and members of the church, "we are supposed to be different. The Christian church is in the world but not of the world."

"I think that many of us are very anxious to prove that not only are we in this world but we are very much a part of it — that we are really no different than anybody else. We go to great lengths to prove that we are human that we aren't holier than anybody else. We easily permit the ways of our society to rub off on us."

Soft-Peddle Beliefs

"But we don't do so much about letting our beliefs show out to others. God has entrusted his message to people just like you and me all over the world. We are the light of the world."

"We tend to soft-peddle our beliefs. We don't want them to show too much."

The light we are to give to others, the pastor said, is that "there is only one way to have eternal life and this is through the pardon and forgiveness offered to us only through Jesus Christ."

Mechanical Charity

The Rev. Mr. Schmidt said that despite all the many service clubs and charitable organizations, "too often the charity we administer today is mechanical. There is a lack of genuine concern for the people we are trying to help. We contribute to a worthy cause because it is the thing to do or because we feel obligated and we do it without feeling."

The pastor suggested, despite the reason America is hated despite all the help she has given abroad is because "we Spunky the Skunk May not have a scent to his name but what's money when you have friends like a Welsh terrier, a German shepherd and a Persian cat? Spunky is the pet of Mrs. Fred F. Aune, Skokie, Ill., who is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Buckley, route 1, Menasha. The terrier and the cat get along well with Spunky, but his real buddy is the German shepherd who thinks the little skunk is "odor this world."

thought too much about what we would get out of it.

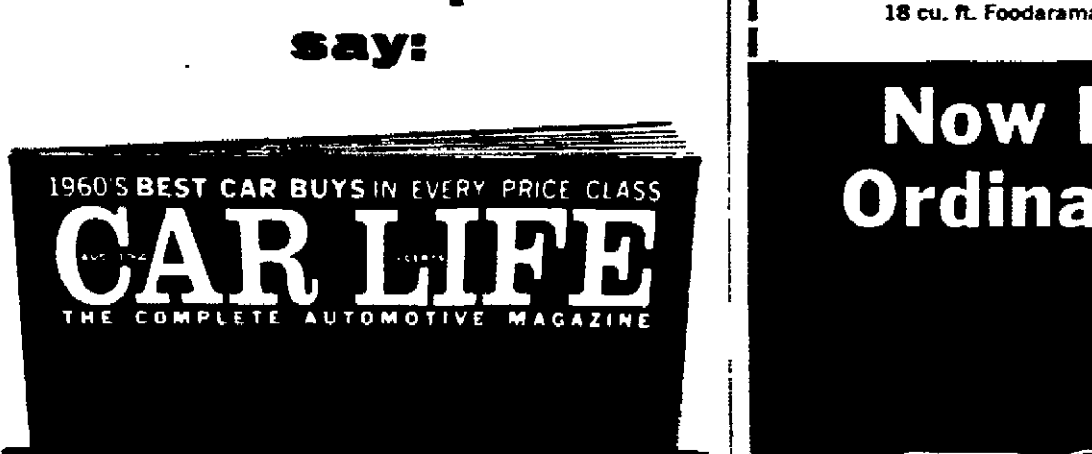

"Our lives and actions" are the true barometer of our faith. The good deeds we do are produced by our faith. For a living faith will automatically go into action. A living faith will automatically give off light to the world around us," the pastor said.

Neenah Girl Drives Without Valid License

Oshkosh — Her right to receive a driver's license was revoked for 30 days in municipal court Monday afternoon Miss Gloria Schmetzer, 17, living faith will automatically give off light to the world around us," the pastor said.

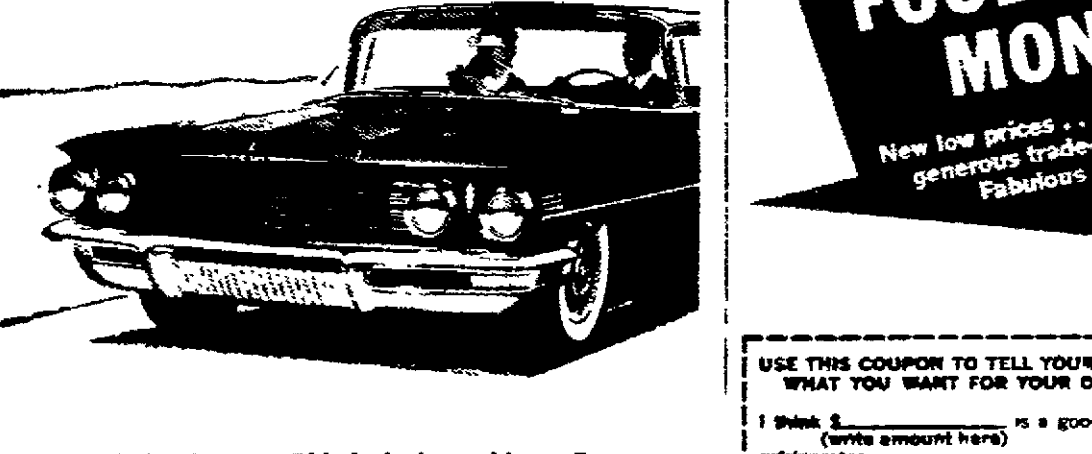

Miss Schmetzer was arrested at 12:12 a.m. Saturday at Franklin and Oneida street in Oshkosh by city police.

To Your Good Health Measures Can be Taken to Ease Parkinson's Disease

By Joseph G. Melner, M.D.

What can you do about Parkinson's Disease? Quite a lot.

First, do not dwell on the fact that the infirmity exists. True, it is more difficult for a person to move, and the tremor or trembling is a nuisance—but it should be substituted for but not eliminated. This makes dressing easier. Frequently-used articles in the home should be placed where they are readily accessible without undue reaching or groping.

Second, in clothing, zippers should be substituted for buttons. This makes dressing easier. Frequently-used articles in the home should be placed where they are readily accessible without undue reaching or groping.

Third, physiotherapy helps. Hence regular attention in this regard is sound practice. Simple but useful thing, special emphasis on a very simple but useful thing, special emphasis on a very simple but useful thing, special emphasis on a very simple but useful thing.

Fourth, warm baths are helpful. (Relaxing, for one thing.)

Keep Busy

Fifth, the patient should keep busy, or be kept occupied. He should be encouraged, quietly but helpfully, if he (or she) is still in business, not quite so conspicuous as he once was, to write or dial a phone. This may be a useful factor in making him more self-confident.

Sixth, various drugs can be substituted for but not eliminated. This makes dressing easier. Frequently-used articles in the home should be placed where they are readily accessible without undue reaching or groping.

Seventh, and last, and most spectacular when it is suitable for a particular case and is successfully performed, is surgery. Since a very localized area in the brain is responsible for the muscle tension and tremors, it is possible in some severe cases to resort to surgery. In such cases, this small area is "short-circuited," or "paralyzed," with the result that the trembling, or palsy, is mitigated.

This is a matter of brain surgery, and therefore not a simple procedure to be attempted without due reason. All the same, in cases which warrant it, and give indications of success, surgery is proving to be effective.

Since medical treatment (all the things I discussed in the first six items today) is usually effective and helpful, it should be given a thorough trial before resorting to surgery. As always, my advice will continue to be the simplest, least expensive, safest remedies first, unless there is compelling reason for using drastic methods at once. And in this case, there is no need for haste.

Incidentally, as our older population increases, we naturally must expect Parkinson's disease to become more frequent. On the other hand, such cases, earlier in life, which are due to serious brain infection (encephalitis and the like) are decreasing. (Copyright, 1960)

Motor Vehicle Head Envisions More Restrictions for Drivers

New Regulations Needed to Cope With Increased Traffic, He Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Driving your car in the future will almost surely involve a higher price in personal restrictions and proof of your ability to do so safely.

James L. Karns, commissioner of the state motor vehicle department, foresees a series of new laws governing the operations of motor vehicles as the highways become more crowded and keeping them safe for life and property becomes ever more difficult.

Periodic Exams — Among them will be periodic reexamination of licensed drivers, and compulsory inspection of the mechanical adequacy of vehicles by state agents.

Karns forecasts also that the legislature will soon require all high school students to learn to drive before they get their diplomas. Such instruction is now common, especially in the cities, but voluntary.

Karns projected highway use developments during the next ten years, during which more than three quarters of a million additional motor vehicles are likely to be licensed in the state, and the number of licensed operators will gain by more than a million.

With the construction of thousands of miles of new superhighways will come the need for a powerfully increased safety education program, enormous expansion of enforcement agencies, and a broader examination that will have the resources to isolate "problem" drivers and give them special attention, he said.

Other States — Wisconsin has sometimes scored indifferently in its drivers safety regulations, as tested by the safety technicians in the field.

Other states have reexamined rules and compulsory inspection, for example. Wisconsin has not seriously attempted either, although there have been occasional proposals for a state inspection system in the legislature.

Karns' timing and his choice of a forum suggested strongly that he hopes to be able to put some of his ideas before the next legislature, which will meet in 1961. He is likely to have some significant support, but such strong departures from tradition frequently have rough treatment in the legislature upon their first introduction.

Automatic Renewal — The state agency now has the right to summon drivers for reexamination for cause, as after an examination of their accident records. But the typical registrant has his permit renewed automatically during his life-time, unless he lists a physical or mental defect upon his periodic renewal application.

Karns is proposing a system of renewals at six year periods, with one-third of all the licensed drivers required to be reexamined during each two year span. He may propose to the legislature immediately a reexamination requirement for all persons over the age of 65, as a pilot or demonstration project.

Spot Checks — Too many of the vehicles are showing up in spot checks by enforcement officers as having mechanical defects, according to Karns, and although the number of students in high school driving classes has increased rapidly during recent years, too many of them receive only classroom instruction as distinguished from on-the-road training.

Karns also indicates that he will continue his demands for enlargement of his 250 man state traffic patrol, and for more driver examiners.

The commissioner views highway safety problems from the perspective of an experienced highway patrolman. He was a county traffic officer and then a state policeman before he was elevated to the top administrative job of his agency a year ago.

Optimist Club Hears History Of Local Firm

Western Condensing Leader in Dry-Dairy Food Development

From a humble beginning in California in 1917 Western Condensing company has grown to one of the largest dairy products company in the country with 32 plants, Richard Thompson, Western advertising manager, told the Appleton Optimist club Monday.

Western Condensing, which has its general offices at 340 W. College avenue, is a division of Foremost Dairies, Inc., San Francisco, third largest dairy products company in America.

Founded By Peebles — Western employs 350 persons in Appleton and has annual sales of more than $20 million. In addition to their processing plant at 935 E. John street, the company operates an experimental dairy farm on the shores of Lake Winnebago.

The company was founded by Dave Peebles who, in addition to being a businessman, was an inventor. He is credited with inventing a spray drying process for whey, considered the basis for all dry dairy products.

While that was the most important invention, Thompson said, Peebles is best known for the development of instant non-fat dry milk.

Whey, once considered a waste product in cheese manufacturing, is the basis for dry dairy food products, Thompson pointed out. He said it contains almost all of the vitamins and other elements of whole milk.

Most of Western Condensing's products are used by other firms, rather than going directly to the consumer. Exceptions are in the agricultural feed line where products are directly marketed.

Western is expanding into other food lines too, Thompson said. One of the fields which is new to Western Condensing is processed cheese.

Auction Set by Aviation Committee — Oshkosh — Auction of the buildings on the Albert Kopitz farm off Highway 44 west of the airport will be conducted by the county board's aviation committee July 30. A house and barn are to be sold. The property was purchased as part of the airport expansion program.

Mrs. LaVern Swenson, president of the leaders association, spoke and showed slides of the state 4-H club week program at the University of Wisconsin. Mrs. William Roycraft, Smile-A-While club, commented on storm, fire and tornado survival and asked leaders in the Berlin area to give personal reactions to the tornado that hit that area several years ago.

Miss Beverly Rabas, assistant home agent, announced the county dress revue will be held at 8:45 a.m. July 26 at Winnebago Central school and the style show at 8 p.m. July 28 at the same place. Entries are due July 19. Miss Rabas said over 300 girls are expected to participate.

Blanks Due Aug. 3
Home Agent Lois Klusmeyer outlined suggestions for county fair booths, advising that booths should tell a story in one minute or less. She said county fair entry blanks are due Aug. 3. Miss Klusmeyer announced special awards will be given for club health and safety program competition.

Clarence Westfall, 4-H agent, listed the program for the Dairyrama to be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 27 at the fairgrounds. The morning program will include a judging contest, cheese identification contest, demonstration on readying calves for the fair, junior dairy queen contest and appearance of the new Wisconsin Dairyland. Talks will be given by Dr. Wilkinson of the state department of agriculture and Al Bringe, dairy specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

The Dairyrama is being sponsored by Winnebago dairy plant operators association. The next 4-H leaders meeting will be Sept. 8.

Cane to Speak to Neenah Kiwanians

Neenah — Assemblyman Arnold J. Cane will speak to the Neenah Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at the Valley Inn about the new family code, the court revision law. He was active in the preparation of both of these laws.

A tour of the new Neenah police station has been set for the July 20 meeting and a picnic is planned for July 26 at Stroebe's island to take the place of the July 27 meeting.

Rubbish Collection

Neenah — Non-burnable will be collected Wednesday morning, Tuesday in the Third, Fifth, Eighth and Tenth wards. Rubbish should be placed at the curb by 7 a.m.

These include holding a public hearing on the proposition and following through on the bond issue needed for the plant construction.

Twenty-one petitions have been returned to the town board asking expansion of sanitary district No. 4 to include the entire Maplewood section of the town of Menasha. The district now includes only the Valley Fair shopping center and the small residential area adjacent to the shopping center.

21 Petitions Filed

The 21 petitions returned contain the signatures of the owners of 634 homes. A count made by McMahon Engineer-plant, plans for the treatment plant set the number of homes in the district at 973. Sixty per cent of the eligible number of signers is needed for the hearing.

Many of the petitions had the signature of the husband and wife as only one signer since the homes were jointly owned, Town Chairman Amos Page indicated.

The letter from Muegge acknowledged receipt of the plans and said that the plans would be reviewed as soon as possible by the state board of health. If the town plans to receive bids or begin construction within 15 weeks, the board should notify the state office.

Charges Follow County Accident

Oshkosh — A Marion man, Jerry A. Ebel, 20, was charged with an arterial violation and driving too fast for conditions when his car went through an intersection and turned over on County Trunk W in the town of Winchester at 5:57 a.m. Monday.

Ebel said he was going to work in Milwaukee and because of the fog did not see a stop sign until it was too late. He turned to the left to avoid going through a fence but his car left the road and turned over.

Divorce Granted Neenah Couple

Oshkosh — A Neenah couple was granted a divorce in circuit court Monday.

Nancy D. Strange, 33, asked a divorce on cruel and inhuman treatment charges from Hugh M. Strange, 43. The couple was married April 23, 1949 and separated Nov. 1, 1959.

Care and custody of their one child was awarded to Mrs. Strange who also received her 1955 automobile. Furniture was divided between the two and Judge Helmut F. Arps ordered Strange to pay his former wife $140 a month support money, $10 per month alimony, $600 arrearable support money and Mrs. Strange's attorney's fees of $500.

Three Forfeit on Drunkenness Charges

Neenah — Three Racine persons forfeited bonds of $14.20 each for drunkenness after being held overnight at the new Neenah jail. They were arrested at the Chicago and North Western depot at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

The ticket clerk said he told them several times the train they were to take back to Racine was at the station and for them to get on but they missed the train.

They are Elmer Stewart, James E. Heckner, and Henrietta M. Westenberg, all of Racine.

Democrats File Full County Post Slate

Offer Candidates for Each Office
For First Time in Over 25 Years

Oshkosh — For the first time in more than a quarter of a century, a complete slate of candidates is being offered on the Democratic ticket for Winnebago county offices and state legislative offices.

The candidates filed their nomination papers Monday afternoon with the county clerk's office. This afternoon is the deadline for filing nomination papers for the Sept. 13 primary.

Board Hears Tax Complaints

Winnebago — The board of review of the town and village of Winnebago met Monday morning in the office of the fire house. Summer residents presented complaints on real estate taxes.

Forty members of the Triton family met for a 15th reunion Sunday in the county park. Mrs. Frank Cartright, Oshkosh, has been re-appointed chairman for 1961.

At the meeting of the Summer Bridge club held at the home of Mrs. A. P. Gruel Monday evening, prizes were won by Mrs. Richard Alendord, Mrs. Norbert O'Connor and the hostess.

Missing were James Jung surveyor, and Robert Nordlander, Third assembly district.

Seek to Form Auxiliary Police Unit

Menasha — Attempt to form an auxiliary police unit for use in disasters was announced today by Mayor John L. Klein. An auxiliary police group has never been set up as part of the natural disaster committee and is one of the most necessary functions, he said.

Volunteers over the age of 21 should register at the police station with either Capt. Roman Rappert, Lt. Richard Gawinski or Patrolman William Ciske who have had experience in the auxiliary police activity.

Twenty-five persons are being sought for the start of the auxiliary police section. The group will work in the case of floods, tornadoes, fires or other disasters.

4-H Club Plans Manitowoc Trip

Neenah — Plans for a club tour to Manitowoc next month were made by the Gillingham Girls 4-H club at a recent meeting. They also planned a hayride party along with the Gillingham Boys 4-H club and a picnic after the ride.

The county demonstration contest held at Neenah High in Menasha, he received his school last week was discussed and plans made for a meeting July 23 for those interested in sewing who will be exhibiting at the 4-H dress revue.

Those girls who attended the 4-H camp last month spoke on that project and the meeting closed with a talk on "Keep Your Kitchen Safe" by Sue Kellett.

Fine, Jail Facing Officials Holding Secret Meetings

Menasha City Attorney Raps
Former School Board Head

Menasha — Members of commissions and boards who persist in conducting public business in secret meetings will become liable to imprisonment and fine, City Atty. Richard Steffens told the Menasha Kiwanis club Monday.

"This is no idle threat," he said. The attorney general's office has supplied him with the opinion that such secret meetings constitute deliberate infraction of the law of the state. This action places board members in the peril of fines up to $500 and jail terms up to one year or both, Steffens said.

"I'm not trying to start any crusade or form any brigades," he said. "All I want to do is do my job to the best of my ability. If I have to step on any toes, I'm happy to say I've stepped on them." Steffens singled out former school board president Ted Neely for special mention in connection with the secrecy in government subject. Soon after Steffens took office, he said, he gave notice to the school board that it should cease holding secret meetings.

"Mr. Neely not only denied this charge," Steffens said, "but he misconstrued my statement. How could he deny the charge when the board's own vice president, John Pawlowsky, had complained of the secret meetings?"

Steffens said Neely also ordered him not to deliver opinions to the school board except in committee of the whole meetings and directed him not to allow the mayor to see what the opinions were.

Public File
These directions of the former board president, Steffens said, will not be followed; that all his business with all boards will be done in the open and that all opinions will be on public file.

People serving on municipal bodies, Steffens said, are doing great service freely and should be respected for that. However, many of the men also serve on boards of directors of corporations where the rule of secrecy is necessary.

He said he does not want to invoke the law's penalty, hoping that board members will come to a realization of the meaning of the new anti-secrecy statute.

Abstain From Voting
However, he suggested, if Neely's philosophy of government includes secrecy, he should go back and take some of the basic civics and American history "so ably taught Turn to Page 3, Col. 6

Bid Public to Meetings of School Board

Menasha — Board of education meetings may be held in the Menasha High school auditorium if enough persons take up the offer of John Fitzpatrick, new school board president, to attend the meetings.

Fitzpatrick has invited the public to observe for themselves the conduct of the school board meetings.

He also gave a special invitation to Robert Nordlander, who wrote a letter to the Post-Crescent Monday to protest a statement made by all his business with all boards will be done in the open and that all opinions will be on public file.

Scout Describes Life Aboard Ship

Neenah — Her activities imagine — ping pong, shuffle board, movies and dances, but most of our spare time is spent in sessions pooling our ideas, song versions, games and dances, so we will become a united team representing the USA as a whole," writes Marcia.

"I think I should have done more research, but then, no one else has a paper-making machine. Fran, from Tennessee, saw our demonstration at Round-up and even made a piece of Fox Valley paper, which she still has. Small world. All over we find people who know people whom we know."

The Neenah student is one of five girls from the United States to attend the Juliette Low session, a gathering of outstanding Scouts from eight countries.

at Menasha High school rather than trying to take over the faculty's job of shaping the curriculum.

In this connection, Steffens said, he felt the board had no business meddling with the faculty's choice of textbooks and recommended that if any member of the board has any private financial interest in action of the board he should abstain from voting on action touching upon that interest.

Steffens rapped the policy of using the city attorney for legislative purposes and declared he will ask the court to remove the attorney Aug. 16 and no bond was set from the board of public works since he is not an elected officer and not answerable to the people.

"The attorney should advise and not vote," Steffens explained.

The metropolitan approach to annexation and sewage problems should be adopted without reference to municipal boundaries. He said the money to track down vandals important to be faced in the near future not only for the city but the town of Menasha.

Apportionment, he said, will increase the urban character of the legislature which should make for an atmosphere for annexation legislation favorable to urban areas.

There has been legislation before the legislature that would tie school annexation to complete annexation. If this were to pass an urban-favored legislature, the town of Menasha's planned million dollar expenditure for sewage disposal would be for naught as far as the township is concerned.

One plan being discussed by aldermen, Steffens said, is to sell the Neenah-Menasha sewage plant to Neenah and co-operate with the town of Menasha in building a new plant.

With Neenah growing at a rate considerably faster than Menasha, he said, no matter what happens the 50-50 cost contract with Neenah should be changed to a more realistic ratio

To a suggestion that the city attorney could well serve both the city and the water and light commission, Steffens said no attorney could do the job at the price the city is paying.

However, he said the secrecy practiced by the utility commission has hidden any knowledge of the utility attorney's salary.

Man Pleads Innocent Of Keeping Deer Without License

Oshkosh — Alvin Miracle, route 2, Winneconne, pleaded innocent in municipal court this morning of keeping a deer in captivity during a closed season while not being the holder of a game or fur license.

A jury trial was set for Oct. 10 and no bond was set for the attorney Aug. 16 and no bond was set from the board of public works since he is not an elected officer and not answerable to the people.

"The attorney should advise and not vote," Steffens explained.

Teens Post Reward for Capture of Vandals

Staubenville, Ohio — F. J. Stuebner, principal of Jefferson Union High school offered their help and money to track down vandals who damaged their school bus near future not only for the city but the town of Menasha.

Principal K. W. Christopher said a $100 reward for the apprehension and conviction of the vandals.

Rachals Changes Mind on Running For Congress

Otto Rachals, former Green Bay mayor, announced this noon that he had changed his mind about becoming a Democratic candidate for Eighth district congressman because he had not expected a primary and because a primary would harm the Democrats' chances of winning the congressional seat in November.

Rachals made his announcement just five hours before the deadline for filing nomination papers for the fall elections. His decision left the way clear for Milo Singler, Neenah farmer, to oppose Rep. John Byrnes, this fall without a September primary race.

Singler did not send out his nomination papers until late last week. He opposed Byrnes in 1956 and 1958 and, in 1958, was opposed by Rachals in a Democratic primary. Singler beat Rachals 12,687 to 7,537.

In pre-nomination deadline maneuvering, Singler delayed announcing definite plans because of a lack of campaign commitments. Rachals announced June 29 that he was a candidate period and that he would run with or without a primary though it would be better for both his and the Democrats' chances if there were no primary.

Lindy Tile Available With Recessed Cove Advantages

Lindy Tile is the only tile available in more than 100 colors or combinations. The color and pattern go all the way through the tile. Surface wear can in no way detract from the beauty of this floor and wall tile.

When buying tile for walls or floors Lindy's say not to be misled by the low first cost. Maintenance and early wear may be very costly. With Lindy Tile the first cost is practically the last—it usually outlasts the building in which it has been installed.

William Lindemann of Lindy Tile, Inc., is particularly anxious to quote prices to new home builders at this time of the year. He said a Lindy Tile installation in a new home would be made on the sub-floor, eliminating the top flooring and any floor covering. The cost is about comparable to standard construction, he said, and makes sense and saves dollars in the long run.

Lindy Tile beautifies, insulates and fireproofs. Area readers who intend to build or remodel or redecorate are invited to visit the firm's showroom get all the facts and examine the product. Lindy Tile can be inspected at the showroom from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday. It is located on Appletton Road, Menasha.

Starting a Plane for the Speed trials are Dennis Wiatrowski, with the plane, and Ray Balda, both of Oshkosh.

Getting A Plane Ready for one of the events in the model airplane meet Sunday are Bill Cogger, Jr., and John Mueller, both of Neenah. The boys were among the 32 contestants from Wisconsin and Illinois who entered the competition.

Set Deadline To Register for City Swim Meet

Neenah — Registrations for the city swimming meet Thursday evening will close at 6 p.m. today. Neenah pool officials have announced. Boys and girls between 10 and 17 years of age who want to enter the meet must register with the pool supervisor by that time. The annual splash day program for those youngsters not yet 10 years of age will be conducted at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the pool. From 9 to 10 a.m. events will be held for the 8 and 9-year-olds. From 10 to 10:30 will be the 4 and 5-year-olds. From 10:30 to 11 events will be for those 6 and 7 years. Awards will be given to the winners in the special events. No swimming classes will be conducted Wednesday morning and only city residents are eligible for the splash day events.

Special Meeting for Parents of Players in Menasha Little League

Menasha — A special little league parents night meeting will be conducted at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Memorial building. Policies of the league will be discussed and parents will be acquainted with how the league operates. Special plans for the remainder of the season will be made and the program for next year will be discussed. The league also will ask for volunteer adult help to assist in running the Little League program for the rest of the current season and next year.

Winner in the Endurance Open division was Kenneth Wattenbach, Milwaukee, right. His brother Wayne, left, took a second place in the combat open division.

J-J Posts Win Over Pabst Nine

Menasha — Earl Cunningham's home run with a man on base in the last of the sixth led Jitter's and Joe's to a 4-2 softball victory over the Pabst Blue Ribbon bar team at Jefferson park.

The losers knotted the score at 2-all in the top of the sixth after trailing since the fourth.

Blue Ribbon took a 1-0 lead in the second when Tom Braun poled a solo homer. Jitter's and Joe's came back with a pair of runs in the fourth.

After two were out a pair of errors put Cunningham and Cliff Brinkman on base. Doug Wiatrowski drew a walk to load the bases and Mike Rohe came through with a 2-run single.

Blue Ribbon tied it in the sixth on Braun's second hit of the game. In the sixth John Weiss led off for the winners with a single and Cunningham followed it with his circuit blast.

Rohe was the game's top hitter with three for three.

Police Warn of Motor Carts on Parking Areas

Kaukauna — Police have received several complaints about youngsters using super-market parking areas for driving areas for small motor-driven "go carts."

City ordinance forbids the driving of these carts in the city which includes private parking areas, school grounds, and public streets, according to Harold V. Engerson, chief of police.

These cars are dangerous and hazardous to children serve, one running, said the chief, and parents are liable for any damage or injury caused by children using the carts. Police have been instructed to enforce the city ordinance on this type of cart with parents and children to answer charges in court.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: Distinguish between ELEMENTAL (related to the elements of something; primal; essential) and ELEMEN-TARY (simple; introductory; rudimentary). Thus: A knowledge of first causes would seem elemental to a study of metaphysics. "These are elementary methods."

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED: Gratus. Pronounce gray-tuss, and not "gratt-uss."

OFTEN MISPELLED: Annulment and annulling; observe the two "l's." Annulment; only one "l."

SYNONYMS: Embalm, con-secrate, preserve, treasure, who gather when they hear store, enshrine, consecrate.

WORD STUDY: Use a word and parents are liable for any damage or injury caused by children using the carts. Police have been instructed to enforce the city ordinance on this type of cart with parents and children to answer charges in court.

Today's word: discrepancy; state of being at variance; disagreement. "There is a discrepancy in these figures which must be explained."

Texas Camp Gay But Senses Defeat

Campaigns as a Westerner; North Labels Him Southerner

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Los Angeles, Calif. — The tall, slow-spoken man from Texas greeted the visitor at the Lyndon Johnson headquarters in the palatial Biltmore and observed: "Adlai Stevenson is like the goose that's been cooked and never eaten. A good man, though."
In Wisconsin, it is never quite certain that Texans are actually tall and rangy, or if their reputations have preceded them. But the Texas-Johnson headquarters is crowded, and cheerful with a kind of a resolute gaiety that is not wholly vindicated by the prospects here and the visitor surmises that the merry-makers know it.
Sense Defeat
The champions of Sen. Lyndon Johnson, No. 1 Democrat in the Democratic congress, leave the impression that they know they probably will lose the Johnson campaign here when the roll is actually called.
Sen. Johnson has left an impression of bitterness since he arrived, a show of resentment that the man who has been good enough to be the top

Crews Begin Rebuilding of Water Street

Menasha — Street crews Monday began tearing up the block on Water street east of Mill street with an expectation to complete the work in 10 days to two weeks.
A new sidewalk and new curb and gutter will be laid and a natural gas line will be extended along the street to serve business places.
A new storm sewer also will be laid as part of the street project. Street crews will bring the street up to sub-grade and then a layer of stone will be applied. Over this will go a hot-mix black-top mat, Street Supt. Evan Baldwin said today.
Alex's, which fronts on the street, is undergoing remodeling while the street work is in progress and has closed today for a week to allow for vacations.

Policemen of The Fox Cities

(This is another in a series of stories on Fox Cities area policemen)
Eugene Viotto, 21, of 325 Second street, Menasha, joined the Menasha police force Oct. 29, 1959. He is single and resides with his parents.
Four months ago, Viotto was discharged from the army, in which he served three years as an artilleryman. He was stationed in Georgia, California and Germany.

Review Boards Set Aug. 15 Meetings

Neenah — Both the Neenah and Menasha boards of review have set Monday, Aug. 15, at 10 a. m. as the dates for their next meetings. All boards of review in the state were required to meet Monday.
Mayor Bell was elected chairman of the Neenah board and City Clerk R. V. Hauser was designated as clerk. The other members are City Treas. Walter H. Loehning, Ald. Carl Coenen and Supv. Alvin Staffeld.
Named chairman of the Menasha board was Anthony Braun while R. F. Schrage was elected vice chairman. The other board members are Earl DeLong, Gene Kolasinski and William T. Brown. City Clerk Harry H. Kind acts as clerk for the board.

Two Forfeit $9 for Arterial Violations

Menasha — Two motorists forfeited $9 each at the Menasha police station for failing to stop for arterial signs. They are D. J. Bickel, 31, 1975 Palisades drive, town of Menasha, arrested at Third and DePere streets at 2:10 a. m. Friday, and Lawrence W. Oskey, 37, 216 S. Badger avenue, arrested at Second and Tayco streets at 12:04 p. m. Friday.
A charge of deviating from the line of traffic against Robert Van Neuland, 19, 431 S. Grand avenue, Little Chute was dismissed by Police Justice Arthur J. Ales this morning. He was arrested on a citizen's complaint June 27 at Third and Racine streets and pleaded innocent June 29.

Boards of Review Wind Up Business

Menasha — Town of Menasha's board of review wound up its annual session Monday afternoon with no one appearing before the board in its 4-hour session to ask a review of the assessed valuation of his property.
Several persons appeared at the town of Neenah's board of review meeting for review of minor items but no changes were made by the board which met at the Lakeview school Monday morning and afternoon. The board then adjourned until next year.

4-H Pleasure Horse Group Stages Show

Training Given Members for County Fair Exhibiting

Oshkosh — Members of 4-H clubs enrolled in the pleasure horse project staged a show at the county fairground Saturday afternoon to provide training in grooming and exhibiting their animals prior to the county fair.
Training was given by Bill Jones, Pickett, while Don Lloyd, superintendent of the horse department at the fair, served as master of ceremonies.
Forty-seven club members are enrolled in the horse project in the county this year and the group has been expanding during the last several years.

Classes
Pleasure horse classes set up for the fair this year are colts under 1 year shown at halter, colts under a year and three years shown at halter, riding classes which include walk, trot and canter for members 10 to 13 years of age and also for members 14 to 21 years of age as a separate class, and shetland ponies under 54 inches shown at saddle.
Showmanship classes are offered also for both the 10 to 13 and 14 to 21 age groups. No stallions over one year of age may be exhibited. The Fox Valley Horsemen's association again is presenting a traveling trophy which applies to the class for colts under one year of age.

Speeder Fined $10 By Neenah Justice

Neenah — Daniel K. McCabe, 18, 304 First street, pleaded guilty of speeding 40 miles an hour on N. Commercial street and was fined $10 and costs by Police Justice E. P. Arpin Monday. He was arrested at 11:25 p. m. Sunday.
Verne V. Monty, 49, 318 Church street, forfeited $9.20 for failing to stop for the traffic light at N. Commercial street and Forest avenue at 2:30 a. m. Sunday.

Denies Charge of Drunken Driving

Neenah — Howard L. Corning, 41, 321 Third street, pleaded innocent of drunken driving when arraigned before Police Justice E. P. Arpin Monday. Trial was set for 1 a. m. Aug. 4.
Corning was arrested on E. Wisconsin avenue at 3:20 a. m. Sunday.

Featured at the Opening day of the annual Winnebago County fair at Oshkosh Aug. 30 will be Rex Allen, TV's "Frontier Doctor," and his western type show. Allen also has starred in motion pictures and as a recording artist. The annual exposition runs through Sept. 2, closing with the Johnny Rivers Golden Horse Ranch Thrill show.

NL Starts Law Wednesday In Bid for All-Star Sweep

Crandall and Banks Homer In 5-3 Win

BY JOE REICHLER
New York — National league Manager Walter Alston will go for an All-Star sweep Wednesday with Vern Law, member of the Pittsburgh staff that led the way to a 5-3 first-game victory over the American league at Kansas City Monday in sweltering, 100-degree heat.
Law threw seven pitches in stopping a ninth-inning threat and preserved the victory for teammate Bob Friend, who pitched 1-hit ball for three shutout innings. It was the NL's twelfth victory in 28 midsummer meetings with the AL and the second for Friend against one defeat.
Hits Into Double Play
Relief artist Elroy Face, third mound member of the Pirate All-Star cast, earlier had stopped another serious American league threat by getting Luis Aparicio to bounce into a sixth-inning double play with the bases loaded.
The trio from the league-leading Pirates worked a combined 5 1-3 innings, allowing no runs and only one hit, a second-inning single by Baltimore's Ronnie Hansen off Friend.
American league Manager Al Lopez, who used six pitchers in a vain attempt to stop the National league power, indicated he would send southpaw Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees to the mound in the second game at Yankee stadium. Left-handers generally are more effective at the Yankee park than at Kansas City, with its short left field fence that was cleared three times in the first game.
Ernie Banks, NL home run and RBI leader, slammed the first home run, off starter Bill Monbouquette of Boston, with a man on base in the first inning to feature a 3-run attack that hung the defeat on the Red Sox' youthful right-hander.
Solo Shot
Del Crandall, Milwaukee catcher, walloped the other NL homer, a solo shot in the second inning. This, too, was hit off Monbouquette, who was tagged for five hits and four runs before giving way to Baltimore's Chuck Estrada in the third.
Willie Mays, the great center fielder of the San Francisco Giants, got two of those hits, a first-inning triple and a second-inning single. He doubled later, off New York's Jim Coates, and came within several feet of becoming the first man in All-Star competition to hit for the cycle. His drive to right off Cleveland's Gary Bell in the fifth was snared by Harvey Kuenn of Cleveland with a leaping catch.
The National league collected 12 hits to the AL's six, all but one of them was in the first five innings when they scored all their runs for a 5-0 lead.
The American league used a record number of 25 players, but only six of them hit safely against the five NL pitchers. The big blow was an eighth-inning home run by Detroit's Al Kaline off Milwaukee right-hander Bob Buhl. The drive came after Kuenn had reached base on an error and reduced the NL's lead to 5-3.
AL Threatens
The Americans, who had been held to only one hit in the first five innings, threatened to pull the game out of the first five innings when they scored all their runs for a 5-0 lead.

The American League's Jim Lemon goes back against the left field wall, dented by numerous hits, to make a spectacular catch of Roberto Clemente's long smash in the ninth inning of Monday's All-Star game in Kansas City. The Nationals won, 5-3.

Pat Gillick Gives Foxes Even Split

Pitches Eighth Straight Win, Third Shutout; Fox Cities Leads by 3 1/2

Lincoln, Neb. — The Fox a 6-3 edge in the season's 20 Cities Foxes added a half-ris.
game to their Three-I league lead here Monday night, thanks to the pitching artistry of left-hander Pat Gillick.
Gillick stopped Lincoln, 1-0, in the 7-inning opening of a twin bill for his eighth straight win (against one loss) and third shutout of the season. He has authored the only three Fox Cities shutouts of 1960.
The Chiefs came back to wallop the Foxes, 12-3, in the nightcap to take the series, three games to one, and open.

Move to Topeka
Fox Cities boosted its lead to 3 1/2 games since Sioux City lost a single encounter, 6-5, to Burlington.
The injury-riddled Foxes limped into Topeka today for the start of a 3-game series. John Papa, the Foxes' second-game starter, complained of soreness in his arm before the contest and was forced to leave in the first inning. Catcher Jim Carver sustained a minor ankle sprain in the first game and sat out the second. Shortstop Bob Saverine suffered an ankle hurt in the second game, moved over to third for a while, then left the contest.
In addition, the Foxes still don't have a replacement for outfielder Ray Youngdahl, who underwent knee surgery last Friday after a mishap Thursday.
Has 1.66 ERA
Gillick, who scattered six hits, lowered his earned-run average to a superb 1.66. (Gillick probably took over the 3-I league lead in ERA from Turn to Page 9, Col. 1

Demons' Booser Beats Braves on 5-Inning 1-Hitter

(From AP Dispatches)
Runnersup Sioux City slipped 3 1/2 games off the pace in the Three-I league Monday night after a 6-5 loss to Burlington.
First-place Fox Cities defeated Lincoln, 1-0, then lost, 12-3.
Ron Brand of Burlington and Ron Hogg of Sioux City each hit a 3-run homer.
John Booser of Des Moines allowed only an infield hit as the Demons thumped Cedar Rapids, 12-0, in a game cut to five innings because of rain. George Williams smacked a bases-loaded home run in the second inning. Des Moines is 4 1/2 games out of first.
Marv Fodor hurled Topeka past Green Bay, 10-3. He fanned 10 and walked only two while coasting in with a 7-hit-ter.

Boyd Dowler Signs 1960 Bay Contract
Green Bay — The signing of Boyd Dowler, the National Football league's 1959 "Rookie of the Year," was announced today by General Manager Coach Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers.
Dowler, a speedy 6-5, 220-pound former end at Colorado, broke into the Green Bay lineup as a slotback after full-back Jim Taylor was sidelined with burns early in the season. Dowler led the Packers in pass receiving by grabbing 32 aeriels for 549 yards and four touchdowns.
Dowler forwarded his contract from Fort Sill, Okla., where he is doing a 6-month Army tour.

Aircraft-Missile Issues Advance in Moderate Trade

New York — Aircraft-missile stocks advanced in an irregular stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The defense-related issues responded to Wall Street's thinking that the latest U.S. Soviet plane incident would make a buildup of defense spending imperative, regardless of who wins the election.

The defense stocks rose from 1 to 2 points on a broad front. Electronics, especially those which have been subjected to profit taking because of huge previous advances, were spotty.

Coppers advanced on fears that a prolonged interruption of copper production in the Congo may lighten the world supply.

Steels moved narrowly to the upside after a ragged start. Oils firmed. Autos and trucks were mixed. Drugs and building materials showed a slightly lower trend.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.15 at 699.28.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 40 to 221.10 with the industrials down .80, the rails down .30 and the utilities down .20.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were slightly higher.

These Days

Writer Says Action on Cuba Is Year Late; Shows Lack of Policy

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — The first effective step, the 1960 Sugar act, has been taken by congress against Castro's Cuba. The step is a year late, but it is now law. Castro is already squalling like a stuck pig. Despite Castro's intimate relations with Soviet Russia, Cuba's economic situation is not as bleak as it appears. The United States increased its aid to Cuba to formalize arrangements and reciprocal visits are being prepared between Khrushchev and Castro. The state department failed to meet these events and continued to subsidize the Castro regime through the sugar bounty. True, the quotas are set by congress but it was the duty of the state department to call attention to the dangers of the subsidy and to issue a statement to the public which could not be misunderstood. There is no sugar shortage. Cuba's sugar will not be missed. It is possible that Soviet Russia may come to the aid of Cuba but if Castro cannot get a better deal out of Russia on sugar than he got on oil, it will not be long before the economic pinch in Cuba will be sorely felt. If Americans assume that such an economic pinch will seriously influence Castro's policies, they are mistaken. Communists are never affected by the sufferings of their people. When Stalin needed heavy machinery, he exported it so that the Ukrainian peasants had none. The export of butter gave him the foreign exchange he needed to buy the machinery. It will be no different in Cuba. The people will be fed the pabulum of hate speeches and wild promises for the future which they will believe, because hungry people like to hate. They like to blame someone besides themselves for their misfortunes. They will blame the United States. Cuba is a pawn on a very wide chessboard. Cuba is a source of great embarrassment to the United States and it will remain such no matter who is elected president. Soviet Russia is playing the Cuban pawn to see what move we will make. Thus far, we have made no move. Meanwhile, Khrushchev has been having his ideological problems with red China over the nature of his orthodoxy. The central accusation against Khrushchev by red China is that Khrushchev is pro-American! By that is meant that he does not believe that war is essential to destroy imperialism. By imperialism is meant American capitalism. Much can happen during the next year that could leave Cuba without a friend. Even if Adlai Stevenson were to be secretary of state, he could not make a deal with Soviet Russia that would tolerate Russia's advantage in Cuba.
